Doc: TAG, vol.30,1954,pp.187-190; LDS microfilm # 1058656, btch 7623718 (submission by Thos. Brown); Cf. also refs. under Richard Lyman #937. Also ANCESTRY OF LORENZO ACKLEY AND HIS WIFE EMMA ARABELLA BOSWORTH

JGF & RKF searched microfilms of original documents in Essex Record Office (E.R.O.), Chelmsford, Essex in Nov 1990: Parish Registers of High Ongar (PR/HO) and Navestock (PR/N). No record of Henry's baptism in either. However PR/N, Baptisms 1538-1843, lists George Lyman, bpt. 4 Nov 1548 (prob. Henry's brother) Script very difficult to read, so Henry might possibly be in same register.

Henry's 1st m. to Elizabeth based on record of her death (cf. notes #2937). No mention of marriage in either PR/HO or /N. Also Torrey located Lyman extracts from the Subsidy Rolls of Essex & the Parish Registers of High Ongar & Navestock (Somerby Papers,vol.3,pp.92-94; & vol.6,pp.47-50). TAG article quotes ref. to "Elizabeth wife of Henry Lyman--dau. ofPeter Rande".

According to TAG, after Peter Rande's death, "Henry took the role of his father-in-law in the manor court (part of a tenants duties) as a juror until his death before the court met on 8 August 1606 (around a year from the previous court).

"6 June 1587. Henry Lyman and Phillis Stane were married." (PR/HO, Marriages 1539-1662) NOTE: THIS IS THE ONLY LYMAN MARRIAGE IN ENTIRE REGISTER. (Parke states wedding date as 19 June, 1587)

Quarter Sessions Roll, Co. of Essex, Q/SR/152/1, 1600-1601, lists Henry Lyman as member of the "jury panel for the body of the county."

After his second marriage to Phillis Stane, Henry moved to Navestock, which is only abt. 3 mi.S of High Ongar (Jacobus & Parke, in above ref. confirm this). The children of this marriage were bpt. there; also his son Henry of his 1st m. was apparently buried there.

Henry's death & burial conf. by Jacobus.

HUSBAND - Richard STANE-5771

Doc: ACKLEY-BOSWORTH GENEALOGY; Freymann research in Essex Record Office, Oct 1990

WIFE -

CHILD 1 - Phillis STANE-2346

Doc: Cf "The Mary U. of John Lyman Genealogy" (sic) by Lyman Coleman & "My Ancestor" by L.M.Paine, p 125; Siemiatkoski

Source: JGF research Oct 1990 in Essex; Coleman p 32. Phillis was the daughter of Richard Stane of Havering-On-Bower. JGF research doc. the Stane family of Forest (originally Foliots) Hall, an estate a short distance north of High Ongar near Norton Mandeville. In 1562, Lord Rich conveyed Foliots Hall to Richard Stane of Shelley (a nearby village), yeoman. Richard (who d. in 1601) gave the estate to his son, Richard, in 1589 on his m. to Ann Rabett. Richard the younger was b. 1561 & d. 1614; therefore he was a contemporary of Phillis; possibly her brother. The manor stayed in the family until 1801, & during the intervening years the family became quite prominent. In the nave of St. Mary's in High Ongar is a marble memorial to Richard Stane (1630-1714), probably the grandson of Richard the Younger, which states that, after the restoration of Charles II he was made Justice of the Peace and Captain of Horse & m. the daugh. of the Lord Bishop of Worcester. His descendents m. into the minor nobility. The estate grew through addition of other manors in High Ongar & vicinity. When it was broken up in 1919 there were 3831 acres. (Text of monument in file. Other info from "A History of the County of Essex, Vol IV, Ongar Hundred ", W.R. Powell Ed., London, Oxford U. Press, 1956, pp 179-80.)

Through much of its history, High Ongar was occupied by tenant farmers. Most lords of manors did not live in the parish until the 18th century. The Stanes of Forest Hall were an exception; they lived on their manor from the 16th century onward. No Lymans are mentioned in the very detailed accounts of ownership of the manors in High Ongar, Norton Mandeville & Navestock from the Conquest to 1956 in the above reference (xerox copies in files). Might they have been tenant farmers? [We know of at least one instance when the son of a tenant m. the daugh. of the lord of a manor: Shakespeare's father & Mary Arden. We also know that life in a manor in the mid-16th century was downright primitive; i.e., that there was little difference in life style between lords and tenants. (Cf. notes on Arden manor in JGF's journal of 1990 trip to UK.)]

Second Marriage: at Navestock, 26 April, 1608, to William Green of Luton. (Coleman p 32; TAG) . The original records give her name as "Phillida Lyman".

JGF & RKF searched microfilms of original documents in Essex Record Office (E.R.O.), Chelmsford, Essex in Nov 1990: Parish Registers of High Ongar (PR/HO) and Navestock (PR/N). No record of Henry's baptism in either. However PR/N, Baptisms 1538-1843, lists George Lyman, bpt. 4 Nov 1548 (prob. Henry's brother) Script very difficult to read, so Henry might possibly be in same register.

Henry's 1st m. to Elizabeth based on record of her death (cf. notes #2937). No mention of marriage in either PR/HO or /N. Also Torrey located Lyman extracts from the Subsidy Rolls of Essex & the Parish Registers of High Ongar & Navestock (Somerby Papers,vol.3,pp.92-94; & vol.6,pp.47-50). TAG article quotes ref. to "Elizabeth wife of Henry Lyman--dau. ofPeter Rande".

According to TAG, after Peter Rande's death, "Henry took the role of his father-in-law in the manor court (part of a tenants duties) as a juror until his death before the court met on 8 August 1606 (around a year from the previous court).

"6 June 1587. Henry Lyman and Phillis Stane were married." (PR/HO, Marriages 1539-1662) NOTE: THIS IS THE ONLY LYMAN MARRIAGE IN ENTIRE REGISTER. (Parke states wedding date as 19 June, 1587)

Quarter Sessions Roll, Co. of Essex, Q/SR/152/1, 1600-1601, lists Henry Lyman as member of the "jury panel for the body of the county."

After his second marriage to Phillis Stane, Henry moved to Navestock, which is only abt. 3 mi.S of High Ongar (Jacobus & Parke, in above ref. confirm this). The children of this marriage were bpt. there; also his son Henry of his 1st m. was apparently buried there.

From TAG:" Shortly before 18 June 1578, Peter Rand died, and in the Court held at that date the homage presented that Elizabeth Lyman the wife of Henry Lyman was his daughter and heir according to the custom of the court. Henry Lyman and his wife appeared in court at the time. Elizabeth was admitted in succession to Petyld, Serleshope, Cashmans Heriett, and to the cottage with seven acres at Pashfield. In the case of the cottage and seven acres in Pashfield, a rent of 20s. was reserved for life to Joan Rande widow, the mother

Birthplace & date: Essex Record Office Parish Records High Ongar, BAPTISMS 1538-1623

His family moved to Navestock when he was young as his mother was buried there in 1587 when Richard was seven.

Par Rec High Ongar Marriages does not list m. of Richard and Sarah Osborn. Difficult to read after 1599, but JGF pretty sure not listed between 1607-09.

According to Parke (ANCESTRY OF LORENZO ACKLEY AND HIS WIFE EMMA ARABELLA BOSWORTH, in reference to the ownership of the copyhold on Pasfield Hall, High Ongar, owned since 1530/1 by William Rande and his son Peter, whose daughter Elizabeth was Henry Lyman's wife until her death, and who was found to be the heir to her father's property upon his death 18 June 1578, "not until 8 Aug 1606 (after the death of Henry Lyman and expiration of his curtesy right) was further action taken, and it was then that Richard Lyman, son of Henry and Elizabeth was [found to be] the heir. In 1639 a record shows that Richard Lyman had surrendered these lands 19 Sept. 1631. That was just before he left for New England.

After his marriage, Richard evidently accumulated a significant amount of property, as he disposed of much property in Norton-Mandeville in Ongar, selling lands, orchards & a garden in Norton-Mandeville, in the parish of Ongar to John Gowar in 1629. Then, in 1631, he also relinquished his right to the manor at Padfield Hall, as noted above.

HUSBAND Henry LYMAN-2345 Yr of Birth 1554
WIFE Elizabeth RANDE-2937 Yr of Birth 1556

He may have sold his property rights to raise cash to finance his move to America. Although John Winthrop's first ships did not leave England until 1630, the planning would have been in place before then, and Richard Lyman may well have been one of the leaders in the community considering the removal to New England. High Ongar is about 15 mi. from Little Baddow, where Thomas Hooker electrified congregations gathered from far & wide with his sermons. It's reasonable to assume Hooker played a major role in Richard's decision to leave what was probably a fairly comfortable life and go off to the wilds of New England.

Richard embarked with his wife Sarah & 5 of their children from Bristol,England in mid-August, 1631 on the ship LYON. Fellow passengers included third wife of Gov. John Winthrop of New England, the Gov's eldest son & his family, & John Eliot, the apostle to the Mass. Indians. They landed in Boston 4 Nov 1631. He settled in Charlestown, Mass. On 15 Oct 1635 he & his family traveled with a party of about 100 persons under Thomas Hooker to form settlements in Ct. As one of the original proprietors of Hartford in 1636, he received the fifth lot from Main Street west of the South Church on the south side of what is now Buckingham Street. His will dated 22 Apr 1640 is the first recorded in Hartford. His name is inscribed on a stone column at the rear of the Center Church in Hartford which was erected in memory of the first settlers of Hartford.

"Great Migration Newletter," v. 1; #4, Oct-Dec 1990 states: "Rev. John Eliot, after he removed to Roxbury & helped organize the church there, began a register of church members....In these records we are told specifically that Richard Lyman (with wife and 4 children)....arrived in Nov 1630. This places them also on the LYON, apparently as part of Eliot's party from the Nazing area of Essex."

Death/Bur: Not certain where he was buried; his name is inscribed on a stone column in the cemetery in the rear of the Centre Church in Hartford, erected in memory of the first settlers of the city.

His will is the first in the valuable work of Trumbull, Colonial Records of Connecticut, Vol. I, pp. 442-3, followed by the inventory. All of his children are named in the will & Phillis is called "wife of William Hills".

Through much of its history, High Ongar was occupied by tenant farmers. Most lords of manors did not live in the parish until the 18th century. The Stanes of Forest Hall were an exception; they lived on their manor from the 16th century onward. No Lymans are mentioned in the very detailed accounts of ownership of the manors in High Ongar, Norton Mandeville & Navestock from the Conquest to 1956 in the above reference (xerox copies in files). Might they have been tenant farmers? [We know of at least one instance when the son of a tenant m. the daugh. of the lord of a manor: Shakespeare's father & Mary Arden. We also know that life in a manor in the mid-16th century was downright primitive; i.e., that there was little difference in life style between lords and tenants. (Cf. notes on Arden manor in JGF's journal of 1990 trip to UK.)]

Second Marriage: at Navestock, 26 April, 1608, to William Green of Luton. (Coleman p 32; TAG) . The original records give her name as "Phillida Lyman".

CHILD 1 - Henry LYMAN-2939

Doc: Coleman p 32. Lists only bpt., mentions another record (Lovering) which gives his father as Henry, mother as Phillis Scott, states " he m. Elizabeth, went to New England in America, and d. there without issue. Coleman says Henry did not emigrate to America.

Footnote: JGF research Oct 1990 in Essex uncovered in E.R.O., PR/N, Marriages 1538-1837, "Henrye Liman and Margerye Swibb (?) were married 18 June 1621." Also, in Baptisms 1538-1843 "Susan (?) daughter of Henry Lyman" bpt. 18 Nov 1622. Not clear which Henry Lyman this is.

CHILD 2 - William LYMAN-3985

Doc: Coleman p 32 No further record of him

CHILD 3 - Phillis LYMAN-2892

Doc: Coleman p 32; also Bpt. of "Phillis filia Henrici" in E.R.O., PR/N, Baptisms 1538-1843. No further records of her.

Birth date: Essex Record Office, St. Andrew Parish Register, Halstead, D/P 96/1/1-9. BAPTISMS 1564-1812: records for 1589 (yr. Sarah b.) missing.

MARRIAGES 1564-1787: RKF could not find record of m. to Richard Lyman. JGF pretty sure m. not in PR/HO Marriages 1607-09, altho script after 1599 very difficult.

The birth records of her children with Richard Lyman were re-stated in the church records of Roxbury, MA.

She was named the sole executrix of her husband's will, under which she inherited the usual life use of the property and 1/3 of the estate outright. However, she named her son Richard as executor, and gave her third of the property to her son Robert, retaining only her clothes and some linen.

Guilford; MOORE AND ALLIED FAMILIES by deForest; Donna Holt Siemiatkoski, THE DESCENDANTS OF RICHARD LYMAN OF HARTFORD

Birthplace & date: Essex Record Office Parish Records High Ongar, BAPTISMS 1538-1623

His family moved to Navestock when he was young as his mother was buried there in 1587 when Richard was seven.

Par Rec High Ongar Marriages does not list m. of Richard and Sarah Osborn. Difficult to read after 1599, but JGF pretty sure not listed between 1607-09.

According to Parke (ANCESTRY OF LORENZO ACKLEY AND HIS WIFE EMMA ARABELLA BOSWORTH, in reference to the ownership of the copyhold on Pasfield Hall, High Ongar, owned since 1530/1 by William Rande and his son Peter, whose daughter Elizabeth was Henry Lyman's wife until her death, and who was found to be the heir to her father's property upon his death 18 June 1578, "not until 8 Aug 1606 (after the death of Henry Lyman and expiration of his curtesy right) was further action taken, and it was then that Richard Lyman, son of Henry and Elizabeth was [found to be] the heir. In 1639 a record shows that Richard Lyman had surrendered these lands 19 Sept. 1631. That was just before he left for New England.

After his marriage, Richard evidently accumulated a significant amount of property, as he disposed of much property in Norton-Mandeville in Ongar, selling lands, orchards & a garden in Norton-Mandeville, in the parish of Ongar to John Gowar in 1629. Then, in 1631, he also relinquished his right to the manor at Padfield Hall, as noted above.

He may have sold his property rights to raise cash to finance his move to America. Although John Winthrop's first ships did not leave England until 1630, the planning would have been in place before then, and Richard Lyman may well have been one of the leaders in the community considering the removal to New England. High Ongar is about 15 mi. from Little Baddow, where Thomas Hooker electrified congregations gathered from far & wide with his sermons. It's reasonable to assume Hooker played a major role in Richard's decision to leave what was probably a fairly comfortable life and go off to the wilds of New England.

HUSBAND Richard LYMAN-937 Yr of Birth
WIFE Sarah OSBORNE-938 Yr of Birth 1589

Richard embarked with his wife Sarah & 5 of their children from Bristol,England in mid-August, 1631 on the ship LYON. Fellow passengers included third wife of Gov. John Winthrop of New England, the Gov's eldest son & his family, & John Eliot, the apostle to the Mass. Indians. They landed in Boston 4 Nov 1631. He settled in Charlestown, Mass. On 15 Oct 1635 he & his family traveled with a party of about 100 persons under Thomas Hooker to form settlements in Ct. As one of the original proprietors of Hartford in 1636, he received the fifth lot from Main Street west of the South Church on the south side of what is now Buckingham Street. His will dated 22 Apr 1640 is the first recorded in Hartford. His name is inscribed on a stone column at the rear of the Center Church in Hartford which was erected in memory of the first settlers of Hartford.

"Great Migration Newletter," v. 1; #4, Oct-Dec 1990 states: "Rev. John Eliot, after he removed to Roxbury & helped organize the church there, began a register of church members....In these records we are told specifically that Richard Lyman (with wife and 4 children)....arrived in Nov 1630. This places them also on the LYON, apparently as part of Eliot's party from the Nazing area of Essex."

Death/Bur: Not certain where he was buried; his name is inscribed on a stone column in the cemetery in the rear of the Centre Church in Hartford, erected in memory of the first settlers of the city.

His will is the first in the valuable work of Trumbull, Colonial Records of Connecticut, Vol. I, pp. 442-3, followed by the inventory. All of his children are named in the will & Phillis is called "wife of William Hills".

WIFE - Sarah OSBORNE-938

Source: Coleman, pg 33; Essex Record Office; Siemiatkoski

Halstead, in Kent, is NNE of Chelmsford, about 25 mi. from High Ongar.

The Osborne family is one of the three parts of the Lyman crest--some say this family was much more distinguished than the Lyman family (Talk by Frank Lyman, Lyman Family Reunion 1992)--needs more research

Birth date: Essex Record Office, St. Andrew Parish Register, Halstead, D/P 96/1/1-9. BAPTISMS 1564-1812: records for 1589 (yr. Sarah b.) missing.

MARRIAGES 1564-1787: RKF could not find record of m. to Richard Lyman. JGF pretty sure m. not in PR/HO Marriages 1607-09, altho script after 1599 very difficult.

The birth records of her children with Richard Lyman were re-stated in the church records of Roxbury, MA.

She was named the sole executrix of her husband's will, under which she inherited the usual life use of the property and 1/3 of the estate outright. However, she named her son Richard as executor, and gave her third of the property to her son Robert, retaining only her clothes and some linen.

HUSBAND Richard LYMAN-937 Yr of Birth
WIFE Sarah OSBORNE-938 Yr of Birth 1589

CHILD 1 - William LYMAN-954

Doc: Par Rec High Ongar, Baptisms 1538-1623, & Burials 1539-1623, exmamined by JGF Oct 1990. List neither bpt or burial, but script extremely difficult to read & JGF could have missed. Dates conf. by Stevens-Miller

CHILD 2 - Phillis LYMAN-942

Doc: Coleman p 33- 36-37. Bpt date confirmed in PR/HO, Baptisms 1538-1623. Siemiatkoski

Listed in early records as Fillis & Phillis, later spelling Phyllis. Emigrated to America on the ship LYON with her parents at age 19 or 20, leaving Bristol, England on 24 Jun 1632. She may have known her future husband all her life, as he was born just about 4 miles from her home, & was also on the LYON.

Married to William Hills, a founder of Hartford, presumably in Hartford area, ca. 1632, shortly after arrival in America. Her father's will of 22 April 1640 refers to her as " my daughter Fillis, the wife of William Hills"). Both their names appear of the Founder's Monument in Hartford among the original proprietors. Both were early members of First Church

Rev. John Eliot notes that she became deaf (see Jacobus pg 580). He wrote about her in his journal, "God wrought upon her heart in this land; she grew deaf, with disease increasing was a great affliction to her". She probably died, less than 40 years old, between 1645 & Dec 1648. Death conf. by Jacobus, Hale House.

Some of her descendants attended the Lyman Family Reunion in Middleton in 1992

CHILD 3 - Richard LYMAN-955

Doc: Bpt. date confirmed in ParRec/HO, BAPTISMS 1538-1623. JGF could not find burial in PR/HO, BURIALS 1539-1623, but script difficult & could have been missed.

Source of death date: COLEMAN. Cf also LDS microfilms listed under Richard Lyman #937.

CHILD 4 - William LYMAN-956

Doc: Siemiatkoski; Bpt. date confirmed in PR/HO, Baptisms 1538-1623. JGF could not find burial in PR/HO, Burials 1539-1623, but could have missed because script so bad.

CHILD 5 - Richard LYMAN-927

Doc: Coleman p 37; E.R.O., Par Rec High Ongar, Baptisms 1538-1623. "Richard, son of Richard Lyman and of Sarah, his wife was bpt. 24 Feb 1617."

Named for his father, as the eldest son. He came to America with his parents & siblings on the Lyon in 1631 when he was 13 years old.

After his father's death, he married Hepzibah Ford of Windsor (reputedly in Northampton. Records there started in 1634. No official doc. found to date.) & they lived in Windsor for 15 years. Six of their children were born there. (No doc. to date--no records of these births in Windsor, Northampton or Hartford found to date). Known to be living in Windsor in 1644 through land record there as follows: "24 July 1644 Richard Lyomn (sic) of Windsor sold 100 acres 'toward Hartford'" (Windsor Deeds Vol I, pg 100). No evidence he owned land in Windsor after that.

Coleman notes that he occupied some of the land of his father-in-law Thomas Ford "in East Windsor near the Hartford line". Richard & his brothers John & Robert were taxed in Hartford in 1655 "in a rate assessed to build a mill." They probably moved that year to Northampton, where in December Richard was chosen as a selectman. Many families from Hartford & Windsor removed to Northampton & Hadley because of the "half-way covenant", a religious dispute which had to do with the meaning of church membership, and who could have their children baptized.

He sold his Father's household at Hartford in 1660.

He appears to have been a man of decided character & influence. Immediately on his removal to Northampton he was appointed one of the first selectmen chosen in that place, and through his short life was engaged in public business.

Death: Northampton VR, Vol 1 Deaths, p 132. [Note Hampshire Co. was formed out of Middlesex Co. in 1662, the year he died]

CHILD 6 - Sarah LYMAN-940

Doc: Bpt. date confirmed Parish Records High Ongar, Baptisms 1538-1623.

Came to America at the age of 12 with her family. Was alive & unmarried in April 1640, as mentioned in her father's will.

Doc marriage: Guilford; Siemiatkoski

Dr. Guilford notes that at the time of James' death, only three of his children survived him, and only his son John carried on the family name. None of the children born in Northampton survived infancy. James Bridgeman (Jr.) was the second birth & the first death of a person of European origin in Northampton.

[Lyman Family Reunion '92 had descendants of John Bridgeman.]

CHILD 7 - Anne LYMAN-957

Doc: Church rec., Roxbury, MA (restated) Bpt. date confirmed PR/N, Baptisms 1538-1843. Definitely NOT listed in High Ongar baptisms.

CHILD 8 - John LYMAN Lieut-939

Doc: Birth (or bpt?) date from Coleman. Not confirmed in E.R.O. Par Rec High Ongar: bpt. rec. missing from end of April, 1623 to 1654. May have been bpt. at Navestock since previous child was, but PR/N bpt. records very difficult to read. [JGF pretty sure John not listed.] Spear & Guilford conf. his birth date. Also restated in Roxbury church records.

Came to America with his family in 1632 on the LYON when he was eight years old.

HUSBAND Richard LYMAN-937 Yr of Birth
WIFE Sarah OSBORNE-938 Yr of Birth 1589

His father's estate proceedings note that "he will be twenty-two years old in Sept. 1645, at which time he will receive L30 from his mother's estate".

After his marriage he joined a group from Wethersfield which moved to Branford. His daughter Elizabeth was born there in 1655, after which time he joined his brother Richard, who had moved to Northampton with his wife's family the previous year.

Source COLEMAN: "..was in the Falls fight 1676, a freeman in 1690, perhaps, and died 20th Aug 1690, 66 years old says the gravestone truly, for he lacked only a month of 67." Also gives details of wife & family, as listed in FGR.

CHILD 9 - Robert LYMAN-941

Doc: Coleman p 33,442-44; Spear; Coleman. Date & place of b. & bpt. not conf. by JGF at Essex Record Office. His birth is recorded in his father's estate proceedings.

Source: WHITTEMORE: "Youngest son of first Richard, born in England; married 5th Nov, 1662 (Coleman says 15 Nov). His sons left no issue, so his line was not represented on the Lyman Wheel which was a feature of the 1791 Lyman reunion at Mt. Tom."

He lived in Northampton where he enjoyed hunting & fishing. He was a freeman in He was a freeman in 1684. He lived his last ten years in a "distracted condition", unable to manage his own affairs. The death of his wife, followed by the death & moving away of so many of his children, probably compounded his confusion and depression. He took refuge in his hunting and was eventually found frozen on a hill in Northampton, still named Robert's Hill, "where he had fallen apparently while pursuing game."

He was the only son not to be given a sizeable inheritance in his father's estate.

The date of his death is not found in the records.

HUSBAND William HILLS-2350 Yr of Birth
WIFE Phillis LYMAN-942 Yr of Birth

HUSBAND - William HILLS-2350

Doc: Listed in will of Richard Lyman (RIN#937) as husband of daughter Phillis. Further confirmed in IGI FGR file submitted by Thos. LeRoy Brown, as documented in PITMAN, LYMAN lines pp 249-252. Also doc. by Coleman & Jacobus, Hale House

Parents were Thomas Hills & Jane Scarborrow, m. 16 Oct 1596 in Upminster, where he was the church warden in 1606.

His birthplace-Upminster-was only about 4 miles from High Ongar, where Phillis was born. The two families would appear to have been tightly intertwined. William Hills sailed on the LYON with the Lymans on 24 June 1632. He was indentured to John Eliot in order to earn his ship's passage.

Upon arrival in Boston harbor on 16 Sep 1632, he & Richard Lyman helped to form Eliot's church in Roxbury. He became a freeman of Roxbury on 14 May 1634. On 15 Oct 1635 both Hills & Richard Lyman left Roxbury & joined the church at Newtown (now Cambridge)MA. The Cambridge church emigrated as a body over land to the CT River valley to settle Hartford, CT. The event which precipitated this migration is unknown, but, according to one source (see DOWN THE LYMAN LINE, Vol II, No 1, p 9),"it must have been great because the migration began as New England winter was approaching". The group traveled west from Newtown to the CT. River valley & then down river to Hartford's current location--a journey of about 110 miles. There must have been a serious rift in Eliot's Roxbury church as Eliot later wrote of Wm Hills, " he removed to Hartford on Conecticott where he lived for several years without giving such good satisfaction to the consciences of the saints."

In Hartford the home of Phillis & Wm Hills was on the southwest corner of what was later Front/Governor & Sheldon Streets. (See file for reconstructed 1640 map.) Richard & Hepzibah Lyman lived nearby, on the south side of what is now Buckingham Street.

After death of Phyllis Lyman, some time before 1648, he married Mrs. Mary Risley, widow of Richard Risley. (He was listed in the Dec 1648 estate records of Richard Risley). According to court records, Hills was to "raise the three children of Mary, relict" of said Risley. In addition, he was required by the court to teach the Risley children to write; the eldest being about 8 years old & the youngest about 3 months. William & Mary had 4 children between 1649/50 & 1655.

After the death of his 2nd wife he married Mary Warner, dau of Andrew Warner of Hadley, MA, & widow of John Steele, Jr., of Hartford, sometime between 1654 & 1659. He had 3 children by her between 1659 & 1664.

During the years that Hills lived in Hartford, he was active in the colony. He was a constable in 1644, became a freeman in 1669, & was wounded by the Indians in the beginning of King Philip's War in 1675. He had some military talent & in 1653 was appointed to be the captain of the first train band on the east side of the Great River (CT. River). He owned sizable tracts of land & was considered to be one of the first settlers on the east side of the river to found Hoccanum or Hockanum, now East Hartford.

HUSBAND	William HILLS-2350	Yr of Birth
WIFE	Phillis LYMAN-942	Yr of Birth

His will was dated 25 Feb 1680/1. In it he styled himself of Hoccanum. In July 1683 the church records of Hartford note that he was dismissed & moved to Hadley, MA, the childhood home of his third & surviving wife. His will was proved on 6 Dec 1683 in Hartford. It is not known whether he died in Hadley or in Hartford. At the inventory in August 1683, the estate was valued at L274.0.2, quite a sizable sum in those days.

WIFE - Phillis LYMAN-942

Doc: Coleman p 33- 36-37. Bpt date confirmed in PR/HO, Baptisms 1538-1623. Siemiatkoski

Listed in early records as Fillis & Phillis, later spelling Phyllis. Emigrated to America on the ship LYON with her parents at age 19 or 20, leaving Bristol, England on 24 Jun 1632. She may have known her future husband all her life, as he was born just about 4 miles from her home, & was also on the LYON.

Married to William Hills, a founder of Hartford, presumably in Hartford area, ca. 1632, shortly after arrival in America. Her father's will of 22 April 1640 refers to her as " my daughter Fillis, the wife of William Hills"). Both their names appear of the Founder's Monument in Hartford among the original proprietors. Both were early members of First Church

Rev. John Eliot notes that she became deaf (see Jacobus pg 580). He wrote about her in his journal, "God wrought upon her heart in this land; she grew deaf, with disease increasing was a great affliction to her". She probably died, less than 40 years old, between 1645 & Dec 1648. Death conf. by Jacobus, Hale House.

Some of her descendants attended the Lyman Family Reunion in Middleton in 1992

HUSBAND Richard LYMAN Jr.-927 Yr of Birth
WIFE Hepzibah FORD-928 Yr of Birth

HUSBAND - Richard LYMAN Jr.-927

Doc: Coleman p 37; E.R.O., Par Rec High Ongar, BAPTISMS 1538-1623. "Richard, son of Richard Lyman and of Sarah, his wife was bpt. 24 Feb 1617."

Named for his father, as the eldest son. He came to America with his parents & siblings on the Lyon in 1631 when he was 13 years old.

After his father's death, he married Hepzibah Ford of Windsor (reputedly in Northampton. Records there started in 1634. No official doc. found to date.) & they lived in Windsor for 15 years. Six of their children were born there. (No doc. to date--no records of these births in Windsor, Northampton or Hartford found to date). Known to be living in Windsor in 1644 through land record there as follows: "24 July 1644 Richard Lyomn (sic) of Windsor sold 100 acres 'toward Hartford'" (Windsor Deeds Vol I, pg 100). No evidence he owned land in Windsor after that.

Coleman notes that he occupied some of the land of his father-in-law Thomas Ford "in East Windsor near the Hartford line". Richard & his brothers John & Robert were taxed in Hartford in 1655 "in a rate assessed to build a mill." They probably moved that year to Northampton, where in December Richard was chosen as a selectman. Many families from Hartford & Windsor removed to Northampton & Hadley because of the "half-way covenant", a religious dispute which had to do with the meaning of church membership, and who could have their children baptized.

He sold his Father's household at Hartford in 1660.

He appears to have been a man of decided character & influence. Immediately on his removal to Northampton he was appointed one of the first selectmen chosen in that place, and through his short life was engaged in public business.

Death: Northampton VR, Vol 1 Deaths, p 132. [Note Hampshire Co. was formed out of Middlesex Co. in 1662, the year he died]

WIFE - Hepzibah FORD-928

Doc: Northampton V.R. Death Rec. VOL I, p 139; Coleman p 39; also Maude Pinney Kunns: THE MARY AND JOHN, Chas. E. Tuttle Co. 1971 p. 24; her will

Came to America in 1630 at age 5 on the MARY & JOHN with her parents, her two sisters Joanna & Abigail; her half-sister Mary, and her half-brother Aaron Cooke. Landed in Nantasket in 1630. Settled first in Dorchester.

Her family settled in East Windsor, near the Hartford line (Coleman p 39)

First Marriage: Doc. in Coleman as occurring in Windsor. (To date doc not found in any records.)

Second Marriage: Northampton V.R. Bk 1 p 100: married 7 Oct 1664, to John Marsh, Sr., of Hadley, Mass. She & Mr. Marsh moved to Hadley after their marriage. (Note that two years later her daughter Sarah Lyman married his son, John Marsh, Jr.)

HUSBAND Richard LYMAN Jr.-927 Yr of Birth
WIFE Hepzibah FORD-928 Yr of Birth

Her sister Abigail was the wife of Elder John Strong of Dorchester & Windsor, the patriarch of the Strongs, a well known early American dynasty with a pub. extensive genealogy. The Strongs & many of their children & related families removed to Northampton with the Lymans.

Her sister Johanna was the wife of Roger Clapp, a fellow passenger on the Lyon & the author of the only known personal journal of that journey (see file). The Clapps are both buried in the very old cemetery in downtown Boston.

Hepzibah's half-brother Aaron Cooke (by her mother's first marriage) married her half-sister Mary Ford (by her father's first marriage), another interesting twist for this family.

Death: Place of burial not known. Will was probated in Hadley, but she seems to have died in Northampton. The last paragraph in the will refers to an "addition to the will of Hepzibah Marsh." It is an agreement on land given by "ye well beloved Mother Marsh", who was deceased May 28, 1683. (Prob. Rec. Reel 1.1 Northampton, MA, Registry of Probate Books, pg 234-235. Forbes Library)

HUSBAND Richard LYMAN Jr.-927 Yr of Birth
WIFE Hepzibah FORD-928 Yr of Birth

His last child was born and some of his descendants continued to live at least until 1871 (date of Coleman's book). Although he was not an original settler, he was deeded an allotment of the "Five Mile Purchase" in Lebanon, which was the beginning of that settlement. He subdivided this land among his children, some of whom settled in the town & some in "the Crank", now Columbia.

CHILD 3 - Thomas LYMAN Deac.-931

Doc: Coleman p 197; Siemiatkoski; NEHGS Corbin Collection, Reel #82-54, index card #5624.

No official doc. for his birth found to date

Named for his maternal grandfather, Thomas Ford (RIN#936)

In early records his name is often spelled "Limon".(Limon on three of his children's birth registrations, Lyman on the other three)

Moved with his parents from Windsor to Northampton in 1656, when he was about seven years old. Was elected a freeman in 1690.

Marriage: (Northampton VR Vol. I p 103) Transcript is incomplete, gives only their names, as Thomas Limon & Ruth Baker. (Note at bottom of page says the marriage date must be considered to be "about 1678) At the time of his marriage to Ruth Holton Baker, he was 29 & she was 38, a widow with six children.

He & his wife removed to Durham, Ct between Sep 1709 & Mar 1710 (based on Hampshire CO land rec.) when he was about 60 years old & she must have been over 70 !!!) with "a part of his children", where they were among the first settlers. (And which, according to Coleman, "for three or four generations thereafter, was the headquarters of this branch of the Lyman family.")

He was one of the first deacons of the newly founded Durham and a representative of the town for several sessions. They were commended to the Rev. Nathaniel Chauncey at the organization of the Durham Church by the Rev. Solomon Stoddard of the Northampton Church, 30 Dec 1710.

CHILD 4 - Elisabeth (Eliza) LYMAN-932

CHILD 7 - Johannah LYMAN-934

Doc: Northampton V.R.:VOL 1: birth p 5; death p 132 (First Lyman child to be named in birth rec.)

May have been named for her maternal aunt Joanna Ford Clapp

CHILD 8 - Hannah LYMAN-935

Doc: Northampton V.R. VOL I: Birth p 5

May have been named for her maternal aunt Hannah Ford, who died in infancy before the Fords emigrated to America.

Hannah played a minor part in the early history of Northampton. In the HISTORY OF NORTHAMPTON, under a chapter entitled "Way of Living-Enforcing Sumptuary Laws", p 291, is the following account: At a subsequent meeting of the court 'Hannah Lyman of Northampton, was presented for wearing silk in a flaunting manner, in an offensive way and garbe, not only before, but when she stood presented, not only in ordinary times, but in extraordinary times, when the people of God were falling before the Lord in public humiliation in respect of the heavy judgments and calamities that were threatening to come upon us.' She was sentenced to pay a fine of 10s. Hannah seems to have been an offender of more than ordinary boldness, ready to show off her fine attire, not only in the meeting house on Sundays and fast days, but in the faces of the Justices when they were trying her case. She was the daughter of Richard Lyman, deceased, and about sixteen years of age. At the March court, forty-five persons from different towns in the county were fined for wearing silk in a 'flaunting manner', and for wearing long hair. Of these, eighteen were residents of Springfield, five of Westfield, nine of Hadley, and thirteen of Hatfield. Eleven were married women, fiifteen unmarried, and nineteen young men."

HUSBAND	Richard LYMAN Jr.-927	Yr of Birth
WIFE	Hepzibah FORD-928	Yr of Birth

Marriage not rec in N'hampton

Her husband was the brother of her sister Eliza's husband Joshua.

HUSBAND - John LYMAN Lt.-939

Doc: Birth (or bpt?) date from Coleman. Not confirmed in E.R.O. Par Rec High Ongar: bpt. rec. missing from end of April, 1623 to 1654. May have been bpt. at Navestock since previous child was, but PR/N bpt. records very difficult to read. [JGF pretty sure John not listed.] Spear & Guilford conf. his birth date. Also restated in Roxbury church records.

Came to America with his family in 1632 on the LYON when he was eight years old.

His father's estate proceedings note that "he will be twenty-two years old in Sept. 1645, at which time he will receive L30 from his mother's estate".

After his marriage he joined a group from Wethersfield which moved to Branford. His daughter Elizabeth was born there in 1655, after which time he joined his brother Richard, who had moved to Northampton with his wife's family the previous year.

Source COLEMAN: "..was in the Falls fight 1676, a freeman in 1690, perhaps, and died 20th Aug 1690, 66 years old says the gravestone truly, for he lacked only a month of 67." Also gives details of wife & family, as listed in FGR.

WIFE - Dorcas PLUM-2339

Doc: COLEMAN p 39 He states: "--in a tradition of little value, she is called the daughter of Rev. Ephraim Huit (who in his will names no such child and she was the daughter of John Plum[b] of Wethersfield)". States she was from Branford Spear &/or Guilford note she was the daughter of "John Plum of Wethersfield".

Source: WHITTEMORE: "Youngest son of first Richard, born in England; married 5th Nov, 1662 (Coleman says 15 Nov). His sons left no issue, so his line was not represented on the Lyman Wheel which was a feature of the 1791 Lyman reunion at Mt. Tom." [NOTE: He left no MALE issue, but numerous grandchildren through his daughters!]

He lived in Northampton where he enjoyed hunting & fishing. He was a freeman in He was a freeman in 1684. He lived his last ten years in a "distracted condition", unable to manage his own affairs. The death of his wife, followed by the death & moving away of so many of his children, probably compounded his confusion and depression. He took refuge in his hunting and was eventually found frozen on a hill in Northampton, still named Robert's Hill, "where he had fallen apparently while pursuing game."

He was the only son not to be given a sizeable inheritance in his father's estate.

The date of his death is not found in the records.

HUSBAND	William HOLTON Deac.-1135	Yr of Birth 1621
WIFE	Mary-4670	Yr of Birth

HUSBAND - William HOLTON Deac.-1135

Doc: NEHGS Corbin Collection Reel #82-54, index card #5623, Northampton Marriage Rec.; Trumbull Vol 3 Pt 1 p 218

One of first settlers in Hartford--need to look there for marriage, land & births of his children.

Name on early records spelled Hoton, Houghton, even Oughton on one, as well as Holton, which was by far the most common spelling..

Along with Richard & John Lyman, he was one of the first planters of Northampton, arriving there in 1654. The HISTORY OF NORTHAMPTON, Massachusetts, by James Russell Trumbull (Vol. I, pub. 1898 by the Press of Gazette Printing Co.; Foebes Pub. Lib., Northampton; extensive xerox excerpt in file) He is listed as one of 4 citizens contracted to build a public meeting house, one of the first of Northampton's public acts(p. 25). He was chosen as one of the first selectmen on Dec. 11, 1655. (p. 28) and in 1659 was elected a Commissioner. In that same year he was granted 10 acres of land as a home lot(#57 on early map). He was elected a Freeman in 1662, and thereby was entitled to exercise the right of franchise (p. 145). He was involved in 1673 in a controversy with "sumptuary laws" enacted by the General Court and reinforced by the "moral suasion" of the church, specifically with the Rev. Mr. Stoddard, the pastor, about what were called "heinous sins" and reinforced by statute. These sins included "....... extravagagances contrary to honest and sober order, and demeanor not becoming a wilderness state, at least the profession of christianity and religion." He was one of twenty-three persons presented at the court in Northampton, all of whom were admonished and ordered to pay clerks fees(p.290-291). Later he is mentioned in a discussion of the first bricks made in Northampton. Trumbull says (p.383) "Nothing indicates that bricks were made at any other locality until 1684, when the town voted to 'Lay out A brick Lot ouer the Mill River where Wm. Holton & Thomas Limon burnt a Kill lately". [Note that this is 6 years after Thomas had married William's daughter Ruth.]

He was a Deacon of his church in Northampton

In 1673 he gave 7 bushels of wheat (worth 1 L 1s) to Harvard College (he wasone of 104 Northampton subscribers) (Trumbull, Vol 1 p 571)
Death: (Northampton VR,Vol.I p. 139.) Trumbull wrote (p.414) "Much sickness prevailed throughout the colony of Connecticut in the year 1689. Springfiels was invaded by it, and so many persons disabled, that harvesting had to be partially abandoned. Northampton also suffered to some extent, the number of deaths from disease being greater than in any other year since the settlement began. In the following two years, however, the epidemic, as it might be called, found its way up the river, and among its victims were many prominent and influential men. During the summer of 1690, one hundred persons were at one time sick at Deerfield, and four-score at Northampton. The disease was also fatal and wide-spread, the next year. During these two years, "agues and fevers" prevailed in all the river towns. The names of twenty-five persons are recorded upon the daeth roll of Northampton in 1690, and in 1691, twenty-three others were added. Among them were some of the older and most eminent citizens of the town. Included in the list are the names of...[list names 11 men, among them Wm. Holton, in 1691]....These eleven men were among the original settlers of the town, and had been identified with its interests from the first. Several of them were eighty years of age and upwards, but most of them were in the prime of life, and all were still active in promoting the welfare of the place."

WIFE - Mary-4670

Doc: NEHGS Reel #82-54, The Corbin Collection, Northampton V.R., file card #5623

Death: (Northampton VR, Vol. I p. 139) Probably died in the same epidemic which claimed her husband's life 3 months earlier.

CHILD 6 - Ruth Holton (BAKER)-918

Doc: Northampton VR, Vol 1; Coleman p 197; Siemiatkoski; NEHGS Corbin Collection, Reel # 82-54, index card #5625

First Marriage (Northampton VR Vol I p 17): 5 Feb 1663, to Joseph Baker, "son of Edward Baker, and lived on Elm Street". (Trumbull, HISTORY OF NORTHAMPTON, p. 271.)

Joseph was killed by Indians on 29 Oct 1675. The account reads "The Indians, emboldened by their success in burning houses and barns, appeared again the next day, October 29th, when they killed three persons. These people, Thomas Salmon, Joseph Baker, and Joseph Baker, Jr., were at work in the meadow, and that is all that is positively known concerning the place or manner of their deaths. After the attack on Pyncheon's Meadow [the previous day], it is not probable that two men & a boy would have very far into the meadows unprotected."

On April 4, 1661, signed Ruth Baker, she was part of the congregation which adopted the covenant that established the First Church of Christ in Northampton. (Trumbull, p 107)

Four children born to Ruth & Joseph Baker are recorded in the Northampton VR. Other records say they had 5 or 6 children. Records on 1671-1673 are very spotty, so others could have been listed in those years.

Second Marriage: Northampton V.R.Vol 1, p. 103. Also listed on index card in Corbin Collection, where there is inserted in pencil "Mar. 14, 1678."

Births of all six of her children with Thomas Lyman are listed in Northampton VR, Vol 1; also listed on index card (as above) with a note that states "All recorded in Northampton Records.(Doc. by RKF) All dates correspond to the V.R." [Under all the other names is the name "Keziah born Sept. 17, 1684." RKF search of Northampton VR 6 Sep 1993 verified this child is daughter of another Lyman, not of Ruth & Thomas.]

Death: Registered in "full communion" in 1st Church Rec., Bk. 1 (NEHGS Corbin Collection, MF Reel #82-11, p. 45, again on 11 Sep 1706)

HUSBAND Thomas LYMAN Deac.-931 Yr of Birth 1649
WIFE Ruth Holton (BAKER)-918 Yr of Birth 1640

HUSBAND - Thomas LYMAN Deac.-931

Doc: Coleman p 197; Siemiatkoski; NEHGS Corbin Collection, Reel #82-54, index card #5624.

No official doc. for his birth found to date

Named for his maternal grandfather, Thomas Ford (RIN#936)

In early records his name is often spelled "Limon".(Limon on three of his children's birth registrations, Lyman on the other three)

Moved with his parents from Windsor to Northampton in 1656, when he was about seven years old. Was elected a freeman in 1690.

Marriage: (Northampton VR Vol. I p 103) Transcript is incomplete, gives only their names, as Thomas Limon & Ruth Baker. (Note at bottom of page says the marriage date must be considered to be "about 1678) At the time of his marriage to Ruth Holton Baker, he was 29 & she was 38, a widow with six children.

He & his wife removed to Durham, Ct between Sep 1709 & Mar 1710 (based on Hampshire CO land rec.) when he was about 60 years old & she must have been over 70 !!!) with "a part of his children", where they were among the first settlers. (And which, according to Coleman, "for three or four generations thereafter, was the headquarters of this branch of the Lyman family.")

He was one of the first deacons of the newly founded Durham and a representative of the town for several sessions. They were commended to the Rev. Nathaniel Chauncey at the organization of the Durham Church by the Rev. Solomon Stoddard of the Northampton Church, 30 Dec 1710.

WIFE - Ruth Holton (BAKER)-918

Doc: Northampton VR, Vol 1; Coleman p 197; Siemiatkoski; NEHGS Corbin Collection, Reel # 82-54, index card #5625

Daughter of William Holton

First Marriage (Northampton VR Vol I p 17): 5 Feb 1663, to Joseph Baker, "son of Edward Baker, and lived on Elm Street". (Trumbull, HISTORY OF NORTHAMPTON, p. 271.)

Four children born to Ruth & Joseph Baker are recorded in the Northampton VR. Other records say they had 5 or 6 children. Records on 1671-1673 are very spotty, so others could have been listed in those years.

Joseph was killed by Indians on 29 Oct 1675. The account reads "The Indians, emboldened by their success in burning houses and barns, appeared again the next day, October 29th, when they killed three persons. These people, Thomas Salmon, Joseph Baker, and Joseph Baker, Jr., were at work in the meadow, and that is all that is positively known concerning the place or manner of their deaths. After the attack on Pyncheon's Meadow [the previous day], it is not probable that two men & a boy would have very far into the meadows unprotected."

HUSBAND Thomas LYMAN Deac.-931 Yr of Birth 1649
WIFE Ruth Holton (BAKER)-918 Yr of Birth 1640

On April 4, 1661, signed Ruth Baker, she was part of the congregation which adopted the covenant that established the First Church of Christ in Northampton. (Trumbull, p 107)

Second Marriage: Northampton V.R.Vol 1, p. 103. Also listed on index card in Corbin Collection, where there is inserted in pencil "Mar. 14, 1678."

Births of all six of her children with Thomas Lyman are listed in Northampton VR, Vol 1; also listed on index card (as above) with a note that states "All recorded in Northampton Records.(Doc. by RKF) All dates correspond to the V.R." [Under all the other names is the name "Keziah born Sept. 17, 1684." RKF search of Northampton VR 6 Sep 1993 verified this child is daughter of another Lyman, not of Ruth & Thomas.] NOTE- Ruth was about 51 when her last child was born!

Death: Registered in "full communion" in 1st Church Rec., Bk. 1 (NEHGS Corbin Collection, MF Reel #82-11, p. 45, again on 11 Sep 1706)

WIFE Ruth Holton (BAKER)-918 Yr of Birth 1640

Marriage: Northampton VR Vol I p 109

Did not remove to Durham with his father, but sometime later, between 1717 & 1719. Hampshire Co Deed Vol C, pp 619-20, says "Ebenezer Lyman, late of Northampton, now of Durham, sold land in Northampton to brother Enoch 30 June 1717.)

About 1740 he removed to Torrington. He & his son Ebenezer were among the organizing members of the Congregational Church. He was chosen a Deacon there on 1 Jan 1742.

Card lists all six children born to Thomas Lyman & Ruth Holton Baker Lyman, with note which states "All recorded in Northampton Records. All dates correspond to the V.R." Also Siemiatkoski p 26; & Coleman pp 50 & 198

Coleman p 198:-----"This Enoch Lyman appears to have removed early to Glastonbury, where he m. Dinah,dau of Samuel Smith, b. Oct. 26,1697. iety": in Dec of 1739 he was paid L15.5. Nathaniel Collins (Rachel Smith's future husband, & Joseph Smith--both Enoch's future brothers-in-law, were also paid as schoolmasters between 1735 & 1739.

In a deed dated 13 June 1733, he received land from Rachel Smith of Glastonbury ..."for the consideration of that love & affection I have & bear toward my brother Enoch Lyman...given me by my father Sam/l Smith dec'd in his last will & testament". There are a great many land records in which he buys or sells or sells land both in Glastonbury & in Colchester in the years from then until his death.

Death: His last land transaction in Glastonbury was 15 Mar 1745/6. On 9 Aug 1748 a deed (Vol 5, p220) to Thomas Welles states..."We Nath/ll Collins, Rachel Collins, Sam/l & Dinah Lymon all of Glastonbury"...sold land, & in the same transaction, a paragraph..."Glastonbury August ye 9th 1748. There personally appeared Mr Natha/l Collins & Mrs Rachel Collins Mrs Dinah Lymon & mr Sam/l Lyman above grantors...signed by the justice of the peace. It seems very likely that Enoch died in the interval between these transactions. To date we have not located his will or death records.

HUSBAND Joseph BAKER-5773 Yr of Birth
WIFE Ruth Holton (BAKER)-918 Yr of Birth 1640

HUSBAND - Joseph BAKER-5773

Doc: Northampton VR Vol I p 17; also DEATHS

He was the son of Edward Baker of Northampton (HISTORY OF NORTHAMPTON,p.271)

Killed by Indians while at work in the meadow near Northampton

His & his son's deaths are recorded in Northampton DEATH reg Vol I p 134

WIFE - Ruth Holton (BAKER)-918

Doc: Northampton VR, Vol 1; Coleman p 197; Siemiatkoski; NEHGS Corbin Collection, Reel # 82-54, index card #5625

First Marriage (Northampton VR Vol I p 17): 5 Feb 1663, to Joseph Baker, "son of Edward Baker, and lived on Elm Street". (Trumbull, HISTORY OF NORTHAMPTON, p. 271.)

Joseph was killed by Indians on 29 Oct 1675. The account reads "The Indians, emboldened by their success in burning houses and barns, appeared again the next day, October 29th, when they killed three persons. These people, Thomas Salmon, Joseph Baker, and Joseph Baker, Jr., were at work in the meadow, and that is all that is positively known concerning the place or manner of their deaths. After the attack on Pyncheon's Meadow [the previous day], it is not probable that two men & a boy would have very far into the meadows unprotected."

On April 4, 1661, signed Ruth Baker, she was part of the congregation which adopted the covenant that established the First Church of Christ in Northampton. (Trumbull, p 107)

Four children born to Ruth & Joseph Baker are recorded in the Northampton VR. Other records say they had 5 or 6 children. Records on 1671-1673 are very spotty, so others could have been listed in those years.

Second Marriage: Northampton V.R.Vol 1, p. 103. Also listed on index card in Corbin Collection, where there is inserted in pencil "Mar. 14, 1678."

Births of all six of her children with Thomas Lyman are listed in Northampton VR, Vol 1; also listed on index card (as above) with a note that states "All recorded in Northampton Records.(Doc. by RKF) All dates correspond to the V.R." [Under all the other names is the name "Keziah born Sept. 17, 1684." RKF search of Northampton VR 6 Sep 1993 verified this child is daughter of another Lyman, not of Ruth & Thomas.]

Death: Registered in "full communion" in 1st Church Rec., Bk. 1 (NEHGS Corbin Collection, MF Reel #82-11, p. 45, again on 11 Sep 1706)

WIFE Hannah LYMAN-935 Yr of Birth 1663

HUSBAND - Joseph POMEROY-2372
Doc: Siemiatkoski

He served in King William's War. They resided in Westfield, Mass.; in Lebanon, Ct.; in Colchester, CT; & about 1715 moved to Corn Hill in Bolton.

WIFE - Hannah LYMAN-935
Doc: Northampton V.R. VOL I: Birth p 5

May have been named for her maternal aunt Hannah Ford, who died in infancy before the Fords emigrated to America.

Hannah played a minor part in the early history of Northampton. In the HISTORY OF NORTHAMPTON, under a chapter entitled "Way of Living-Enforcing Sumptuary Laws", p 291, is the following account: At a subsequent meeting of the court 'Hannah Lyman of Northampton, was presented for wearing silk in a flaunting manner, in an offensive way and garbe, not only before, but when she stood presented, not only in ordinary times, but in extraordinary times, when the people of God were falling before the Lord in public humiliation in respect of the heavy judgments and calamities that were threatening to come upon us.' She was sentenced to pay a fine of 10s. Hannah seems to have been an offender of more than ordinary boldness, ready to show off her fine attire, not only in the meeting house on Sundays and fast days, but in the faces of the Justices when they were trying her case. She was the daughter of Richard Lyman, deceased, and about sixteen years of age. At the March court, forty-five persons from different towns in the county were fined for wearing silk in a 'flaunting manner', and for wearing long hair. Of these, eighteen were residents of Springfield, five of Westfield, nine of Hadley, and thirteen of Hatfield. Eleven were married women, fiifteen unmarried, and nineteen young men."

Marriage not rec in N'hampton

Her husband was the brother of her sister Eliza's husband Joshua.

Birth:. Card in Northampton VR lists all six children born to Thomas Lyman & Ruth Holton Baker Lyman, with note which states "All recorded in Northampton Records. All dates correspond to the V.R."

Probably moved to Durham with his parents in 1709-10 (age 18-19). Moved back to Northampton shortly before 20 June 1717. (Brother Ebenezer sold Enoch, "late of Durham, now of Northampton" land on that date.) He was now 26.

A schoolmaster, at least in his early years. First appears in GLASTENBURY FOR TWO HUNDRED YEARS (see file for xerox copy), p. 115, in a report entitled "Glastenbury School Society; from the records of the First Ecclesiastical Society": in Dec of 1739 he was paid L15.5. Nathaniel Collins (Rachel Smith's future husband, & Joseph Smith--both Enoch's future brothers-in-law, were also paid as schoolmasters between 1735 & 1739.

Enoch Lyman "husbandman" of Northampton bought & sold land in Northampton in 1719-1724. Presumably married & had son Samuel during this period. Moved to Glastonbury some time after 11 March 1724.

8 June 1726 Enoch Lyman of Glastonbury sold land in Northampton. He next appeared in Colchester land records 25 Feb 1731 when Samuel Smith Sr. gave land there to "my son in law Enoch Lyman of Glastonbury, Schoolmaster, & to my daughter Dinah his wife." Enoch & Dinah (always of Glastonbury) sold this land in 1732-33 & 38.

On 26 Mar 1793 he contested a codicil to Samuel Srs.' will that put wife Dinah's 1/3 share of land in the hands of her sister Rachel.

In a deed dated 13 June 1733, he received land from Rachel Smith of Glastonbury ..."for the consideration of that love & affection I have & bear toward my brother Enoch Lyman...given me by my father Sam/l Smith dec'd in his last will & testament". There are a great many land records in which he bought or sold land both in Glastonbury & in Colchester in the years from then until his death.

The last land transaction related to him in Glastonbury was 15 Mar 1745/6. On 9 Aug 1748 a deed (Vol 5, p220) to Thomas Welles states..."We Nath/ll Collins, RachelCollins, Sam/l & Dinah Lymon all of Glastonbury"...sold land, & in the same transaction, a paragraph..."Glastonbury August ye 9th 1748. There personally appeared Mr Natha/l Collins & Mrs Rachel Collins Mrs Dinah Lymon & Mr Sam/l Lyman above grantors...signed by the justice of the peace. It seems very likely that Enoch died in the interval between these transactions. To date we have not located his will or death records.

RESEARCH QUESTIONS:

HUSBAND Enoch LYMAN-1132 Yr of Birth 1691
WIFE Dinah SMITH-1133 Yr of Birth 1697

1) Find marriage record & birth dates of children. (Not in Colchester, Hadley, Hebron or Northampton) Try Lebanon, Bolton, ?

2) Determine whether the Mrs. Dinah Smith in the land record is his daughter or his widow. Did he ever have a dau named Dinah? (only Coleman says so), or any other children except Samuel?

3) Find death/ burial records. (Not in Durham or Glastonbury) Also where & when Dinah died/was buried.

4) Find probate records for his will &/or land holdings at the time of his death--and assignment to heirs. (Not in Glastonbury). Durham? Northampton?

6) Find church records which demonstrate his life/living in Northampton &/or Bolton, Northampton, Hadley, etc.

WIFE - Dinah SMITH-1133

Doc: Coleman p 198; also GLASTENBURY FOR TWO HUNDRED YEARS, Alonzo B. Chapin, D.D., pp 192-193; Siemiatkoski; Lyman Gen Supp p 261; Ruth Freymann article "Solving the Muddle in the Middle of a Lineage" (see file)

Chapin, in the Glastonbury record named above, erroneously recorded that she was m. 29 May 1727 to Joseph Brewer. (See file for xerox copy of record) Research of land records in Hebron on 7 Jun 1994 proved conclusively that another Dinah Smith, almost certainly the one known to be the dau. of Benjamin Smith [Samuel Smith's brother] was Mr. Brewer's bride. (See para. below & Lyman notes in file for complete story)

The Land Records cited above, of Colchester, CT, Town Clerk's Office (see Lyman file for complete transcript), #33, Vol 3, p 175: Deed "...I Samuel Smith of Glastonbury...for & in consideration of ye natural love & affection I have & bear unto my Son in Law Enoch Lyman of Glastonbury aforesaid, Schoolmaster, & to my daughter Dinah his wife..." gave 2 tracts of land in Colchester, a total of about 77 acres (see Lyman file for complete transcript). Signed 25 Feb 1730/31 by Samuel Smith, his mark. Witnesses John Lynn, Jean Lynn.

CHILD 1 - Samuel LYMAN-80

Doc: Coleman p 198, Land records Glastonbury; other recs. quoted below; article newsletter DESCENDANTS OF THE FOUNDERS OF ANCIENT WINDSOR, "Solving the Muddle in the Middle of a Lineage" by Ruth K. Freymann; Siemiatkoski; Lyman Gen. Supp. p 261-267-268

Doc Marriage: Glastonbury Vit Rec Vol 1, p 57 (See file for xerox copy); also Coleman p 64 & p 198

Glastonbury land records (Vol 9, p. 435): Deed of Samuel Lyman, Sr.to Samuel Lyman, JR. & others :" I, Samuel Lyman of Glastonbury...for diverse good causes & consideration of myself & my beloved wife Sarah, being supported & maintained during our natural lives, have...quit claim unto Sam/l Lyman Jn/r & Isaac Lyman & Sarah wife of Stephen Bartlet (sic) of said Glastonbury...a piece of land lying in said Glastonbury being one third of one piece of land containing 88

HUSBAND Enoch LYMAN-1132 Yr of Birth 1691
WIFE Dinah SMITH-1133 Yr of Birth 1697

acres in the whole & is the same piece of land that Sam/l Smith sold to his sister Rachel Smith & was butted (sic) formerly on land of William Miller S, & W on the Great River, E on common or undivided land & N on land of said Sam/l Smith, the whole piece being 15 rods wide N & S, & 3 miles long E & W." Signed 26 Feb 1785. Witnesses: Josiah Hale, Anne Hale, Sam/l Lyman.

The above record proves that Samuel & Sarah were both alive & living in Glastonbury in 1785, ages abt. 63 & 54. Their son Samuel, Jr., age 25, having moved to Bolton & Tollsnd, was back in Glastonbury. Also in Glastonbury were son Isaac, age 23, & dau Sarah, age 26, who had m. Stephen Bartlett. Not named in the deed were Samuel & Sarah's 3 youngest children: Ruth, 20; Joel, 15; & Irena, 7. The latter 2 were minors & could not be named. Ruth had reached majority & was prob. married, living elsewhere. (her 1st child was b. in Mar 1788)

Death Records of Wilbraham, MA (Vol.1), show three Lymans buried in Adams Cemetery: 1)Joel Lyman, known to be son of Samuel; 2) "Samuel Lyman Nov 5, 1807 age 85" 3) Infant daughter of Joel, d. 1808, undoubtedly Sarah

Search of Wilbraham Vital Records turned up no mention of the death of Samuel but a notice in the HAMPSHIRE FEDERALIST Vol II No. 97 p.4, Thursday, Nov. 12, 1807 gives " Died: In Wilbraham, of a fit of apoplexy, on the 5th Inst., of a fit of apoplexy, Mr. Samuel Lyman, aet 85." (Birth date est. on basis of this death date).

CHILD 2 - Dinah LYMAN-1134

Doc: Coleman refers to her as dau of Enoch Lyman (p. 198). No other evidence has been found that she ever existed. The Dinah Lyman referred to in land records (see her father's FGR) could have been her, or, more likely, was Dinah Lyman, wife of Enoch. Research continues.

HUSBAND John LYMAN-3880 Yr of Birth 1717
WIFE Hope HAWLEY-4301 Yr of Birth 1719

HUSBAND - John LYMAN-3880

Doc: Coleman p 208; Siemiatkoski; Lyman Gen Supp pp 227-252

Came to Durham with his parents at age 2

First Lyman to live in Middlefield, came there with his wife in 1741, when they purchased 37 acres with a house & a barn on 27 Mar 1741 (possibly with funds from her dowry).

He & his wife were the grandparents of Lyman Beecher & Henry Ward Beecher & the great-grandparents of Harriet Beecher Stowe, daughter of Lyman Beecher

WIFE - Hope HAWLEY-4301

Doc: Coleman p 201-202; monograph prep. by Diana Ross McCain of Ct. Hist. Soc. for Lyman Family Reunion 1992; Lyman Gen Supp

Her parents were Jehiel Hawley & Hope Stow of Middletown & Durham; grandfather was Rev. Samuel Stow of Middletown, who owned much land in Middlefield, "some of which descended to John Lyman's wife".

Called the "Eve" of the Middlefield Lyman clan. Said to have been a woman of "extraordinary courage, independence, strength & determination for the 18th century". Her dowry may have provided the funds for their purchase of land & she held title to all their land after his early death, a most unusual situation for that time. She did not turn over title of the property to her eldest son when he reached maturity, indeed not until Fed 1779, 16 years after her husband's death. At that time she sold the property to her son David.

In June 1779 she remarried, to Daniel Fowler of Guilford.

McCain says she gave birth to eight children & buried six of them, two as babies

Doc: Coleman p 198, Vit. Rec. Glastonbury; Siemiatkoski; Lyman Gen Supp pp. 261-268; article newsletter DESCENDANTS OF THE FOUNDERS OF ANCIENT WINDSOR, "Solving the Muddle in the Middle of a Lineage" by Ruth K. Freymann

Marriage: Glastonbury Vit Rec Vol I, p 57 (See file for xerox copy); also Coleman p 198

9 Aug 1748: Nath/l & Rachel Collins, "Mrs Dinah Lymon & Mr Sam/l Lymon", all of Glastonbury, sell land in Glastonbury all had inherited from Sam/l Smith (Sr.), deceased. (Dinah is prob. his mother; could be his sister)

16 Nov 1761: Samuel Lyman of Glastonbury sold a small parcel with "shoop" on it on meeting house green in Glastonbury to his aunt Rachel (Smith) Collins.

Glastonbury land records (Vol 9, p. 435): Deed of Samuel Lyman, Sr.to Samuel Lyman, JR. & others :" I, Samuel Lyman of Glastonbury...for diverse good causes & consideration of myself & my beloved wife Sarah, being supported & maintained during our natural lives, have...quit claim unto Sam/l Lyman Jn/r & Isaac Lyman & Sarah wife of Stephen Bartlet (sic) of said Glastonbury...a piece of land lying in said Glastonbury being one third of one piece of land containing 88 acres in the whole & is the same piece of land that Sam/l Smith sold to his sister Rachel Smith & was butted (sic) formerly on land of William Miller S, & W on the Great River, E on common or undivided land & N on land of said Sam/l Smith, the whole piece being 15 rods wide N & S, & 3 miles long E & W." Signed 26 Feb 1785. Witnesses: Josiah Hale, Anne Hale, Sam/l Lyman.

The above record proves that Samuel & Sarah were both alive & living in Glastonbury in 1785, ages abt. 63 & 54. Their son Samuel, Jr., age 25, having moved to Bolton & Tolland, was back in Glastonbury. [NOTE this was son Samuel, not Samuel Sr, who moved to Bolton, as suggested by Coleman]. Also in Also in G. were son Isaac, age 23, & dau Sarah, age 26, who had m. Stephen Bartlett. Not named in the deed were Samuel & Sarah's 3 youngest children: Ruth, 20; Joel, 15; & Irena, 7. The latter 2 were minors & could not be named. Ruth had reached majority & was prob. married, living elsewhere. (her 1st child was b. in Mar 1788)

Death Records of Wilbraham, MA (Vol.1), show three Lymans buried in Adams Cemetery: 1)Joel Lyman, known to be son of Samuel; 2) "Samuel Lyman Nov 5, 1807 age 85" 3) Infant daughter of Joel, d. 1808, undoubtedly Sarah.

Search of Wilbraham Vital Records turned up no mention of the death of Samuel but a notice in the HAMPSHIRE FEDERALIST Vol II No. 97 p.4, Thursday, Nov. 12, 1807 gives " Died: In Wilbraham, of a fit of apoplexy, on the 5th Inst., of a fit of apoplexy, Mr. Samuel Lyman, aet 85." (Birth date est. on basis of this death date).

Military Service: He may have been the Samuel Lyman who served in Capt. Nathaniel Pomeroy's Company, commanded by Samuel Chapman, Esq, Colonel of Foot, Conn. Militia, in Gen. Tyler's Brigade of Militia, State of CT., under command of the Honorable Major General Sullivan in the Newport (RI) Expedition August-Sept. 1778. Samuel appears on the company payroll dated Suffield, Hartford County, Nov 28, 1778. He entered service August 3, 1778, and was discharged September 18, 1778. Total days in service: 50. Wages per month: 2 pounds; total wages: 3 pounds, 6 shillings, 8 pence. No rank given. Reference card #37074170. (Notation from Roll 364, Section 881, National Archives. Personnel of Chapman's Regiment of Foot, Conn. Militia.) Further research needed.

Doc First Marriage: DAR lineage book vol. 153, p 126. Also letter (see file) from his gr-gr-gr-grddtr. Mary Ann Ott & an Ancestor Chart submitted to the Windsor Historical Society by another desc., Margery Lyman Izard (see file for copy)

Items from Glastonbury land records:

16 Oct 1780: Samuel Lyman, Jr., of Bolton, sold land in Glastonbury.

20 Feb 1782: Samuel lyman, Jr., of Glastonbury, sold land in Glastonbury.

!18 Jan 1784: Samuel Lyman, Jr. & Isaac Lyman sold land in Glastonbury.

26 Feb 1785: Samuel Lyman, Jr. was among children of Samuel Lyman, Sr. & wife Sarah to whom the parents gave land.

Doc Second Marriage: Wilbraham Vit. Rec. Marr. p. 160. States "Samuel Lyman of Partridgefield"--a hamlet which later, or even at that time, was also called Peru, Berkshire Co., MA [Note that he & his first wife were both buried in Hinsdale, Berkshire Co. Both Peru & Partridgefield are currently part of Middlefield, MA, which is just over the border from Berkshire Co.] The dates of this marriage fit, because 2nd marriage occurred 3 years after death of first wife.

Evidence leading to conclusion both m. are the same Samuel: his inclusion in data re other Lyman marriages (i.e. Joel; Joel's widow Mary; & Bina's brother Menzier R. Stebbins; also proximity of Partridgefield to Wilbraham; & no other Lymans in Wilbraham.) Needs further research.

Doc Birth: Glastonbury Vital Rec. Vol.I,p.57

CHILD 4 - Ruth LYMAN-72

Doc: Coleman p 198; Siemiatkoski; Lyman Gen Supp p 261

Doc: Marriage of parents & date of birth Glastonbury Vital Records Vol I, page 57 (also confirms names & birth dates all siblings)

[ALPK Holo. Gen. lists her birthplace as Weathersfield, Ct.--same birth dates but year 1763.]

She was probably named for her great-grandmother, Ruth Holton (RIN# 918)

Doc. Marriage: date & location in ALPK holo. gen.(not ver. by official rec.)

Probably lived in CT for some time after marriage. First son, Horace, said to have been born there (1788). Living on Long Island by the birth of her second & all her other children.

Lebbeus' death left her (at the age of 54) with several young children: Laura Irene, 16; Selah, not quite 15; & Joel, 11. Possibly she lived for a few years with an older son: George, Henry & probably Horace were all married by then.

More likely is that she is the Mrs. Porter we find in the 1820 US Census, NY, NYC, 4th Ward, call # 29 Jan 1820, pg 156, listed as head of a household which includes the following: 1 free white male b/w 16-26; 1 free white female b/w 16-26, one 45 & over; 3 foreigners not naturalized; 1 manufacturer. Her son Selah & her daughter Laura fit those ages; that leaves the question of where Joel (then age 12) was living, but he may have been living with other family members. Best guess is that this is our Ruth, who is running a boarding house.

Two years later we find her in the NYC Directory in 1822 as "Porter, Widow Ruth, 33 Pump St." (MF 315M-Reel 9,1822/3-1829/30). She is not listed again in the directory,but in the next several years before her death in 1830 her newly-married daughter Laura Irene & several of her sons--Henry, Philo, George and possibly Horace were all living nearby & she may have been living with one of them.

In the 1830 US Census for N.Y., Kings Co., Brooklyn, we find the Samuel L. Porter household (See RIN #77) includes a free white female between the age of 60-70,, which is very likely Ruth, living with her son.

Doc Death: Manhattan Death Register, NYC Public Library MF ZI-201 Reel 3 1824-1832. " October 24,1830 Residence: 11 Mott St Age: 66 yr, 10 mo, 14 days Born: Weathersfield, Con Cause: Consumption Burial: Methodist Society Cem. Sexton: Peter Brown" (See xerox copy in file). [Since both IGI & ALPK 19 Oct. birthdates agree, and we know the Sexton had a week within which to record deaths (Bailey Guide to Gen. Sources For NYC 1783-1898) the later date on this certificate is presumed to be her burial date, not her death date. Needs further research]

Her address in the death register, 11 Mott St., is near to all the other known family addresses at that time. Joel is listed in the NYC Dir. at 196 Mott St. in 1833-35; Selah's second child, William Henry, was born on Mott St. in 1833. Finally, she was living on Mott St., undoubtedly with one of them, at her death. Needs further research.

NOTE: On death cert. her place of birth is listed as Weathersfield, just as in holo.gen.. Somehow Ruth &/or her family thought she was born there, even though records clearly place her birth in Glastonbury. The border between the two towns may at some point give us a clue.

CHILD 5 - Joel LYMAN Dr.-122

Doc: Glastonbury Vital Rec.Births Vol.I,p.57; Coleman p 64, 67 & 198; Vital Records Wilbraham, MA, CT Valley Hist. Soc., Springfield, MA

Doc Marriage: Wilbraham Town Records, Book of Marriage Intentions, p. 214: "Joel Lyman & Polly Merrick both of this town, intend marriage together (word?) October 10, 1796. [They were married on 1 Nov 1795]

Coleman states he "..lived through life in Wilbraham, Mass., in the practice of his profession" . THE HISTORY OF WILBRAHAM (Chauncey Peck, 1913) on p. 297 has a List of Phsicians, 23 in all, who had served the town to that date. One listed as Jacob Lyman is undoubtedly Joel Lyman, as there are numerous other references to him as a Doctor, and none other to any "Jacob". He may have apprenticed with Dr. Samuel Fisk Merrick, a well-known physician at that time in Wilbraham & related to his wife.(See her family MRIN # 1157))

The same volume has a lengthy description of the earliest homes in Wilbraham along Main Street (pp 360-370, see file for copy). One of them,#7, which still stands (although extensively and poorly enlarged and remodeled) is listed as belonging " to the heirs of Dr. Joel Lyman in 1819" &, before that to "Jonathan Merrick in 1801". (his father-in-law)

Doc Death: Wilbraham Vit Rec Deaths Vol III "Lyman, Dr. Joel, d. November 27, 1809, aged 40" . Also, notice in HAMPSHIRE FEDERALIST, Vol IV No. 205 p.3, Thursday, December 7, 1809: "In Wilbraham, 27th ult of consumption, Doct. Joel Lyman, ABt 40, a kind husband and tender parent".

Probate Record: Hampshire County Registry of Probate, Northampton, Vol 26, 1809-1810, p 198: Mary Lyman & Augustus Sisson are appointed administrators of the estate of Joel Lyman, late of Wilbraham, deceased, 8 Feb 1810 (date of appointment, not his death). [This shows that Joel died intestate]

ibid, p 215: Mary Lyman is appointed guardian to Joel Merrick, Samuel, Henry, David, Charles Pynchon, Mary Caroline Lyman, children of Joel Lyman, late of Wilbraham, deceased--8 Feb 1810.

Hampshire County Registry of Probate, Vol 27, 1810-1811, p 50: Inventory of the estate of Dr. Joel Lyman, late of Wilbraham, deceased. [Very fine, almost unintelligible script, even when magnified.] 1st item: House furnishings, 1 acre of land & buildings there standing: $600. [Next pg a bit easier to read.] Items: 1 pair of boots & 1 greatcoat, 21 velum books on surgery & physick, 1 (word?) on divinity, 1 case pocket instruments, 1 case of needles & 1 case (word?) instruments, 1 case lancets from Master of Phila (?), 1 druggist case of 16 phials. Mary Lyman, administrator, swore this was a true inventory, date 11 April 1810.

are listed there: Joel, his infant daughter Sarah M., & Samuel Lyman age 85, whom we assume to be Joel's father. They are buried in the same plot, & the deaths all occurred in a three year period, in 1807, 1808 & 1809.

The old (Adams) cemetery is on a side street off to the right of Main Street as you drive away from the center of Wilbraham. Joel Lyman's grave is #371-2, Row 7. The inscription states "d 27 Nov 1809, age 41. RKF & JGF visited there in Feb 1993, but the cemetery was too icy & snow-covered to explore. The information we obtained was from Larry Duquette [413/ 596-5113] of the Wilbraham Historical Commission, who lives next door to the cemetery. We will call on him when we make a return trip.

The Methodist & Congregational churches have merged into a modern United Church at 500 Main ST. To date we have not been able to determine what records are available. We will follow up: i.e., records of deaths of Joel & Samuel; births (& deaths) of Joel's children, etc.

The old Methodist Church is now a museum, open only for 2 hours on 1st Sundays of month. Will try to time our return to coincide with this.

Wilbraham Public Library has some genealogic information upstairs. This, too, should be researched.

RESEARCH QUESTIONS:

1) Newspaper information--Check any existing copies of the HAMPSHIRE FEDERALIST for information in addition to the two obituaries we have--any news about him as a practicing physician; about Polly: her life, death, possible second marriage; anything about any of his children, etc.

2) Wilbraham Census records 1790 & 1800--also later years for his family any evidence of Samuel Lyman, Sr & Sarah (Bartlett) Lyman living there

3) Possible apprenticeship to/practice with Dr. Samuel F. Merrick (see Mary Merrick FGR)

4) Cemetery records his grave & plot--find sexton

5) Obituaries/ local histories--in addition to what we now have

HUSBAND - Jonathan MERRICK Lieut.-4004

Doc: Wilbraham V.R. (Birth)p. 54; (Marr.) p 141; CEMETERY INSCRIPTIONS OF WILBRAHAM, p. 13; also Coleman p 67

Marriage is listed as "Intent to marry"--may not have occurred in Wilbraham

His parents were Deacon David Merrick & Mary Colton, who were m. Wilbraham 7 Dec 1734. Dea. David Merrick settled in Wilbraham about 1735 & was one of its earliest settlers. He was a deacon of the church he helped organize, the First Church of Christ. He built a home at 515 Main St.(opposite the Congregational Church in 1913, since removed), which was used for years as an inn as well as a residence. No.14 in the historical list, it was next owned by Lieut. Jonathan Merrick, then by his son John Merrick; finally by John Marshall Merrick, who was licensed as an "Innholder" in 1840 & probably later. It was a tavern for many years.

The name Merrick has also been spelled Mirick or Myrick. The present spelling has long been preferred. The earliest known member of this family in the USA was Thomas, who was born in Wales & came here, settling in Roxbury, Mass. about 1633. He moved to what is now West Springfield in 1638. Deacon David was his grandson. Another early settler in Wilbraham was David's cousin the Rev. Noah Merrick, first resident minister(Pastor of Church of Christ), who also came to Wilbraham from pre-West Springfield after graduating from Yale in 1731. He died Dec 22, 1776 at the age of 66, in the 36th year of his ministry. His wife was Abigail Brainard. Noah's three sons were:

1) Dr. Samuel Fisk Merrick, b. 1751, who served in two expeditions in the Rev. War as a member of Capt. James Warriner's Co. of Wilbraham (the journal he kept of one was printed in THE HISTORY OF WILBRAHAM--see file); was one of the town's early moderators as well as a practicing physician for many years. The First Church record pub.his intent to marry 13 Feb 1780 to Sarah Meekum of Hartford. Their home, #37 in the town's historical listing (see file for copy) was built around 1854 & was burned to the ground in 1904. The stone barn he built in 1854 may still be standing. The house across the street,# 36, is still owned and operated as a farm by Merrick family members. In 1831, at the age of 85 he delivered a historical address to celebrate the town's centenniel. (In 1963 the Merrick family still had the original. (See file for copy). Many of his descendants still live in the Wilbraham area.

Samuel & Sarah had a daughter, Abigail, who died by drowning at age 16 in a tragic accident 29 Apr 1799 which came to be called the "Nine Mile Pond Tragedy". Three female companions were drowned with her. Her body was not her. Her body was not found until May 15. Much has been written about her & the accident.

His other children were Sarah, who d. 2 July 1820 age 39; Lydia F., d. 6 Oct 1831 at Natches in her 37th year; & Phineas, Esq., d. June 1833 in 39th year. All are apparently buried at Adams Cemetery

Joel Lyman may have apprenticed in medicine with Dr. Merrick, who was related to Joel's wife Mary.

HUSBAND Jonathan MERRICK Lieut.-4004 Yr of Birth 1747
WIFE Mary MERRICK-4419 Yr of Birth 1751

2) Pliny Merrick, whose son Pliny was a judge, justice of the Mass. Supreme Court & attorney-general of the Commonwealth.

3) Chileab B. Merrick, served in Revolutionary War in Capt. James Warriner's Company of Wilbraham, time of service: 10 days

RESEARCH QUESTIONS:

1) What is relationship of above mentioned Merricks to Jonathan & his daughter Mary (Jonathan's father, Deacon David Merrick, was a cousin of Rev. Noah Webster, father of Dr. Samuel)

2) Find any possible clues to Joel Lyman apprenticing with Samuel Merrick

WIFE - Mary MERRICK-4419

Doc: Wilbraham Vit Rec Mar. p. 141; Cemetery Inscriptions Wilbraham First Church 1865 (Wil. Hist. Soc. 929.3 Mass. +W65F)

Marriage records list both her & her husband, each as Merrick. They were probably cousins.

CHILD 1 - Mary "Polly" MERRICK-3998

Source: Wilbraham Vit.Rec.Birth & Marr(p. 141); also Coleman p 67. Also information descendant Mary Louise Berger submitted for Family Groupings Lyman Family Reunion '92 (# 278--p. 6)

Her name is intermittently given as either "Polly" or "Mary" on vital records: at her marriage, Coleman gives "Mary", Wilbraham Vit.Rec. give "Polly". On official birth records of her children, she is listed twice as "Polly", & four times as "Mary".

Wilbraham Vital Records, under "Marriages" Vol. II, lists the intent to marry of "Widow Mary Lyman and George Miller of Ludlow Mar 4, 1815". This may be a second marriage for this Mary, following her husband's death in 1809, and could explain why she does not seem to be buried next to him in the Adams Cemetery. Neither she or her second husband are listed in Wilbraham death or burial records.

Doc Death: Coleman, p. 67, states she "died 1868, more than 90 years of age" No indication of where.

HUSBAND - Lebbeus PORTER-71

! Doc ~~Sources:~~ ALPK holographic genealogy charts & narrative; Porter family bible in possession of Agnes Porter, Janesville, Wis.(through Donald Porter Avery); Civil War records; War of 1812 records; IGI (Mormon) micro files & data

! Listed in 1800 N.Y. Census as Labeus Porter, 104A7 Suff; mentioned by Malman, also documented by Town Historian,(xerox copy in file) as original Pew Holder Pew # 34 ,Shelter Island, L.I. (Presbyterian) Meeting House, June 20, 1817. (See file for doc.)

! The entire statement about him made by Antoinette in her "Record of the Porter Family" (which she wrote sometime between 1892, the last date recorded in the hand-written genealogy, and her death in 1896), is as follows " Lebbeus Porter was born in Colchester, Conn. Oct 14 1742. Was married to Ruth Lyman of Weathersfield, Conn. She was born Jan 1st 1763. Lebbeus Porter died at Hogneck Southampton Long I. Aug 12 1819. Ruth Lyman Porter died in New York City Oct 19 1830. He served through the Revolutionary War- was paid off in continental money. He said when he reached home he did not have enough money to buy a pair of wool cards. Those articles were of great importance in those days. One of his toes was inhured by a canon (sic) ball which troubled him to his dying day." The document then spells out (a total of 4 legal size pages) the details of births, deaths & marriages for the next 2 generations of the descendants of Lebbeus & Ruth. This genealogy has been proven accurate in all but a few minor details (the second name of their son Henry Charles, which she listed as Clinton), so ALPK must be taken seriously as a family historian. Yet to this date we have found very few clues to help document her dates & places related specifically to Lebbeus. [See file for list of records unsuccessfully searched for verification of Revolutionary War service]

Death/Burial ! Extensive search of cemetaries in the Hogneck, Southampton area to this date has not yielded any clues. Also no documentation as yet of birth place. Early record Presbyterian church Shelter Island--about 1816--lists him as witness in civil case [See file], but we have found no death records in Long Island records for him or any birth records for his children. The early Hogneck Cemetery does not exist now. [See Research Data File for extensive list of searches made.]

WIFE - Ruth LYMAN-72

! Doc ~~Source:~~ Marriage of parents & date of birth IGI & from Glastonbury Vital Records Vol. 1, page 57 (also confirms names & birth dates all siblings) ALPK Holo. Gen. lists her birthplace as Weathersfield, Ct.--same birth dates but year 1763. ~~Coleman lists her in two places, p. 64 & p. 198, as a descendant of two different Lyman ancestors. RKF research continues; for the present, several factors point to present attribution of Enoch Lyman & Dinah Smith as her grandparents: 1) The sequence of generations "fits" much better; 2) she gave one of her sons Smith as a middle name, 3) her own name, Ruth, suggests she may have been named for her great-grandmother, Ruth Holton (RIN# 918)~~

Parents gave land in Glastonbury to her 3 older siblings 26 FEB 1785. She was NOT named in deed. Since she was 20 then (i.e., reached age of majority) this may mean she had married & moved some distance away from Glastonbury. (Older sis was married but living in G & was given land.)

Insert ←

! Doc. Marriage date & location only in ALPK holo. gen.

! Lebbeus' death left her with several young children: Laura Irene, 16; Selah, not quite 15; & Joel, 11. Possibly she lived for a few years with family, or

HUSBAND Lebbeus PORTER-71 Yr of Birth 1742
WIFE Ruth LYMAN-72 Yr of Birth 1765

an older son: George, Henry & probably Horace were all married by then. More likely is that she is the Mrs. Porter we find in the 1820 US Census, NY, NYC, 4th Ward, call # 29 Jan 1820, pg 156, listed as head of a household which includes the following: 1 free white male b/w 16-26; 1 free white female b/w 16-26, one 45 & over; 3 foreigners not naturalized; 1 manufacturer. Her son Selah & her daughter Laura could have fit those ages; that leaves the question of where Joel (then age 12) was living, but he may have been living with other family. Best guess is that this is our Ruth, who is running a boarding ~~house~~ ~~house. years after~~ house. Two years later we find her in the NYC Directory in 1822 as "Porter, Widow Ruth, 33 Pump St." (MF 315M-Reel 9,1822/3-1829/30). She is not listed again in the directory,but in the next several years before her death in 1830 her newly-married daughter Laura Irene & several of her sons--Henry, Philo, George and possibly Horace were all living nearby & she may have been living with one of them. In the 1830 US Census for N.Y., Kings Co., Brooklyn, we find the Samuel L. Porter household (See RIN#77) includes a free white female b/w the age of 60-70,, which certainly is likely to be Ruth. The address listed for her in the death register, 11 Mott St., is near to all the other known addresses. ~~Her son Joel is listed in the NYC Dir. at 196 Mott St. in 1833-35;~~ (He d in MASS in 1808) Selah's second child, William Henry, was born on Mott St. in 1833. Finally, she was living on Mott St., ~~undoubtedly~~ probably with ~~one of them~~ ~~him~~ Selah, at her death. Needs further research.

Doc Death: Manhattan Death Register, NYC Public Library MF ZI-201 Reel 3 1824-1832. " October 24,1830 Residence: 11 Mott St Age: 66 yr, 10 mo, 14 days Born: Weathersfield, Con Cause: Consumption Burial: Methodist Society Cem. Sexton: Peter Brown" (See xerox copy in file). [Since both IGI & ALPK 19 Oct. birthdates agree, and we know the Sexton had a week within which to record deaths (Bailey Guide to Gen. Sources For NYC 1783-1898) for now the later date on this certificate is assumed to be her burial date, not her death date. Needs further research]

Book ,section on Personal References, biography of George Anson Porter, Jr., states that George Anson Porter, Sr. was "educated by his Father [Lebbeus Porter], who was a school teacher.

CHILD 3 - Henry Charles PORTER-75

Doc: ALPK Holo. Gen.1892 Family Group Sheet DPA, sent RKF 3-22-1989; HISTORY OF WALWORTH COUNTY, p. 556.

Henry & his brother Horace & probably George were veterans of the War of 1812 although their service was very brief. Henry & Horace served from 2 Sept to 3 Dec, 1814, in Daniel McFaul Smith's company, an independent battery of the NY State artillery stationed at West Battery, N.Y.. Henry did a lot of militia duty after that. He was discharged October 10, 1832, from the Ninth Regiment of the First Brigade of the New York State Artillery after seven years service and declared exempt from military duty in the state except in the case of insurrection or invasion.

He moved to New London, Conn., after his marriage in 1817; back to New York City in 1822, lived there until 1832 (see below); to Holly, Orleans Co., N.Y. in 1832, where his older brother George, a carpenter, was living

NYC Directories list him at following dates, occupations & addresses:

1825-6	Cartman	23 Suffolk
1826-7	Cartman	33 Suffolk
1827-9	Cartman	34 Suffolk
1830	Constable	11 Lewis
1830-1	Constable	21 Hester
1831-2	Constable	45 Suffolk
1832-3	Constable	42 Suffolk

In 1837 Henry & his brother Selah & their families moved to Wisconsin. They arrived in the town of Troy, Walworth Co., October 9, 1837, & joined their brother Samuel, who had built a log house there the year before. On December 24, 1837, Henry & his family moved into their own log house, at that time minus a roof. Henry farmed in Adams Township for many years on a site that can be identified with some accuracy to this day.

In the fall of 1854 Henry & Ann moved to Palmyra, Jefferson County, Wis., no doubt to be close to their son Acors & his family & their daughter Laura Irene, last child living at home (1850 Census), who had been married that previous February & had moved to Palmyra.

Henry's nephew, William Henry Porter, son of his brother Selah, wrote from Adams to his uncle Acors 12 Dec 1856, that "Uncle H.C.P. is at Lone Rock some 120 miles west of here keeping a saloon & Aunt Ann is living in Palmyra along with her son-in-law Walter Palmer......."

Both he & his wife are buried in Hillside Cemetery there. RKF visited & took photographs of the site in 1990. His stone identifies him as a Mason.

CHILD 4 - Philo Albert PORTER-76

Source:DPA. Much documentation & historical information in file.

NY City Directory lists a Philo A. Porter in the following years, occupation & addresses:

1827-8	Cartman	36 Suffolk
1828-9	Cartman	36 Suffolk

He moved back to Long Island after his second marriage there in 1826. All of his children were born there & two are buried there--in the years 1828-37. It is unlikely, therefore, that the person listed above in NYC in those years is the same as this person. Needs further research.

Moved to Porter Co. about 1838. A grocer in Valparaiso in 1850. Justice of the Peace from 1860 on, known as "Squire Porter". Admitted to Salem Presbyterian Church from Valparaiso Oct 1847; dismissed to Valparaiso Feb. 1854.

Had no children by 1st marriage to Louisa Schofield

Came to Troy, Walworth Co.,Wis, 1837. His wife's obituary states " In September 1837, they landed in Milwaukee, traveling by Erie Canal to Buffalo, and steamboat on the lakes. From Milwaukee to their claim in Walworth County the trail was through heavy forests, but with a yoke of oxen and a lumber wagon, walking or riding, with an infant in her arms, the trip was made, and in their humble log house they commenced life in Wisconsin. That house and home became the shelter and rondezvous of most of the historical personages that figure in the early settlement and organization of the state".

He laid claim to his land, 160 acres in Section 17, on October 10, 1838. The following year his two brothers, Henry C. & Selah, came with their families to join him, & moved in with him. At one point the log house held 16 people. It was also used for a time as a tavern. Their homes, near the western central portion of Troy, were known as the "Porter Settlement".

He moved to Baraboo in 1850, where he again worked as a carpenter & builder. In 1851 he bought 6 building lots & "during the years that followed built many of the leading residences and frame store buildings erected here". He also was a builder in several other states. He was working in Mississippi when Civil War broke out, "subsequently experiencing some difficulty in reaching the North." He was a journeyman carpenter after the war, away from home long intervals.

In a letter written Sept 26, 1859, his son Charles gives his father's address as "Lexington, Holmes Co., Miss.", & says Samuel " talks of going to Pensecola Bay on the coast of Florida to spend the winter".

His file contains 4 long, affectionate letters to his niece ALPK from those years, in which he gives many details of his journeys & working situations. He often asks about her children, particularly Selah Samuel, whom he always calls "Samuel Selah", because he is so pleased the baby is named for him. It is quite apparent from these letters that he and Pamelia, his wife, lived separate lives for at least the last 15 to 20 years of her life. In a letter to ALPK written 5 May 1867, he speaks of leaving "a city full & sat down in the woods".."I think I spent many of the happiest days of my life in that little cabbin(sic) 3 miles from any boddy(sic)".....&"..tried as by fire (to) put confidence in mankind & they proved false and I will say my greatist(sic) enemy was that of my own household".... Later, in the letter dated Jan. 25, 1874, he writes "I have drifted around considerable since we last parted...made it home in Richland Co. one or 2 years with Laura Palmer " [Laura Irene Porter-RIN #237, his niece]...& details his work & experience in the South.

At age 77, he was with his brother Selah at death, a witness to Selah's will, made 3 days before his death.

In his last years, he lived with & did carpentry for his daughter Cornelia & her Lemuel Stanley. In the last reference to him in family letters, Antoinette wrote to William from Whitewater, where she is nursing her dying sister Viola, Apr. 16, 1884," ..I also had a letter from Uncle Sam. He writes he has to work pretty hard for Stanley & dont get much pay. Poor old man. I think it time he had a rest". [This comment is especially interesting because Mr. Stanley was a very wealthy man & Samuel at that point was 84 years old !] Whatever the circumstances, he lived with the Stanleys until his death & is buried in their plot.

A Mason & a Republican. Belonged to Methodist Episcopal Church.

Obituary (Chippewa Falls Herald) says "Few men have had such wide experience in the world as Mr. Porter....he was once shipwrecked on an ocean whaler and remained on an island days without food.....few portions of the country but what he has been over...." [To date there is no information to document the mention of the shipwreck]

CHILD 7 - Selah Smith PORTER-64

Source: ALPK Holo. gen. circa 1892; Censuses; Newspaper clippings & obituaries; Family journals & letters; Milwaukee Historical Society Library

He lived & worked in NYC as a young man. In the HISTORY OF WALWORTH COUNTY, p.556,it says in part "Selah S. Porter, after leaving his home on Long Island, went to the City of New York & learned the printer's trade." In 1827 he was accepted into membership in the New York Typographical Society. [The framed original certificate still hangs in the Philadelphia home of his granddaughters Dorothy & Carol King]. Between January & June of 1830, several pre-nuptial letters from Cornelia (who was living with family in Patchogue) are addressed to Selah at "Corner of Fulton & William Streets, No. 100, New York". (See file).

First Marriage: Doc. ALPK Holo. Gen.

After his marriage to Cornelia he is listed in NYC Directories at the following years, addresses & occupation:

1831-2	Printer	397 Grand
1834-5	Printer	18 Amity Lane [now 3rd St.]
1835-6	Printer	206 Wooster
1836-7	Printer	206 Wooster
1837-8	Printer	206 Wooster
1838-9	Printer	206 Wooster

ALPK's holographic genealogy gives the following addresses at birth for his children: Obed Sears, 1832: corner of Grand & Attorney St.; William Henry,1833: Mott St.; Antoinette Louise, 1835: Wooster St.; Lebbeus Effingham, 1837: Wooster St. All of these check with the above listed addresses except the one for William Henry. Interesting to note that his uncle, Selah's brother Joel Bartlett Porter, was listed in the NYC Directory in 1833-34 at 199 Mott St.

He moved his family from NYC to West Troy, Walworth Co., Wis. in 1838. He is recorded in 1840 Wis. census,Walworth Co., p. 205 (household: M: 2 under 5; 1 5-10; 1 30-40. F: 1 under 10; 1 30-40.), living contiguously to his brothers Samuel L. & Henry C., also to (Rev) James F. Flanders, newly married to Henry's daughter Ann Elisabeth. He is also listed there in the census of 1842.

Some time in 1841-42, he returned to Milwaukee and the printing trade, where he was the printer of the MILWAUKEE COURIER. The newspaper had been established in 1836 as THE ADVERTISER. It was purchased in 1841 by Josiah A. Noonan, who changed its name to the Courier & apparently hired Selah to print it. We know from family letters of that time that Cornelia & the children stayed in Troy, & Selah returned there to visit them as often as possible. Their letters to each other are filled with domestic details & those concerning running the farm in Selah's absence. We also know that Selah was living with, or very near his publisher, as he mentions Mrs. Noonan's care for his foot when he hurt it; he also speaks specifically of Mr. Noonan in another letter. We do not know as yet how long this arrangement continued or when Selah returned to Troy to work & live.

By 1844 he seems to have resettled in Troy, farmed there & held many civic offices. He was town treasurer in 1862. In other years he was either one of three supervisors or the chairman of the group. Those years (all this from History of Walworth Co.) are: 1844, 1845,1846, 1854, 1856, 1860, 1862 & 1865. His farm land was adjacent to land later purchased by John & Hannah King, on opposite sides of the road in the place where County Road #20 curves, just south of the Adams Cemetery & the old yellow brick school house. (cf. ALPK's journal). (See county land map in file). It's no wonder there were so many marriages between Kings & Porters!

In 1850, after Cornelia's death & before his re-marriage, he is in the Milwaukee Co.,Milwaukee census, as follows: Selah S. Porter, 44, printer, b. NY; Centinette (sic), 14, b. NY; Irving, 10; Viola, 8; both b. Wis. (his son Lebbeus, 12, is in the census living with Lyman Smith, farmer, in Walworth Co.)

Second Marriage: Occurred after 1850 census, before 1860 census. Emeline D., his 2nd wife, is named in the 1860 census, age 44. She is also mentioned in several family letters & in his will.(See file)

Antoinette's journal gives us vivid details of Selah's death. He had made a long trip East, stopping to see several family members on Long Island & in upper New York state. Letters in the file from both Mary Dan (his wife's sister-in-law) in Bellport, L.I. & one he sent from Corfu,N.Y.while he was visiting his sister-in-law Sarah Warren Porter & his nephews, George Anson,Jr. & Henry P. Porter, addressed to "Dear wife and family" both attest to his visits & to his seriously impaired physical condition before he returned home. In her journal, Antoinette spells out her father's rapidly deteriorating health. On 22 Oct she wrote " Rec'd letter from sister Vie with sad news about father. He went East on a visit for his health. Came back as far as Corfu. Was unable to come farther alone. Telegraphed for Irve to come for him. Poor poor father, his stay with us will not be much longer. How well I would like to see him once more. Finally, she writes on Sat.,Nov.2, that she has received another letter from home which confirms her fears, that "he died Sunday morning Oct. 20th, 1867.

His hand-written will (Copy in file) was written Oct. 17, 1867, just three days before his death, & was witnessed by his brother Samuel Lyman Porter. He named his sons Lebbeus B. Porter & Irving Bayant Porter his Executors. In it he left He ordered the sum of $2000 "to be left intact & kept at interest for the sole use & benefit of my dear wife Emeline D. Porter & be paid to her annually as the sums shall fall due." He further stipulated that she be allowed to "invest any part of the principle sum of two thousand dollars in a homested", should she prefer to do so. The remainder of his estate, just over $6,000.00 he divided evenly between his four children. One noteworthy exception was his instruction that his grandson Selah S. King be given the sum of $100 from "the share of my daughter Viola C. Porter",& that his watch be "kept by my daughter Viola C. Porter until my grandson Willie P. King shall arrive at the age of Eighteen years & that then it be given to said Willie P. King". He ordered that his home be sold & the proceeds evenly divided among his children, & that his household furniture "be divided equally between my wife Emeline D. Porter & my daughter Viola C. Porter as they shall agree & if unable to agree to be divided by a third party to be selected by them".

When his son Lebbeus died, his daughter Antoinette wrote graphically in her journal [12 April 1870] that he " was buried ...in the graveyard where Father and Mother & Bro William lie near the yellow school house in Troy, Wisconsin." After several visits & an intense search, in 1991 JGK & RKF rediscovered the tombstone, long buried under an overgrown lilac bush near their children's several markers, under which Selah is buried with Cornelia in the peaceful Adams cemetery.(Photos & sketch in file). Contact with the cemetery's sexton has resulted in having the brush cleared away, so their grave site will be preserved

CHILD 8 - Joel Bartlett PORTER-79

Source: ALPK holo. gen. Also official death rec. (see below) confirms age at death & birthplace. Search of church & civil records on Shelter Island, summer 1989, failed to yield any further documentation to confirm data on him in ALPK genealogy.

Named Joel for mother's brother Joel Lyman (RIN# 122); Bartlett for his mother's mother, Sarah Bartlett (RIN# 81)

Marriage date & place based on ALPK Holo. Gen. c. 1892. She said he had no children. DPA doc. the following:1850 Census: NYC 15th Ward Porter, Joel 22 (?? 42), Cartman; Mary,28 ; Sarah, 8; Gabriel Beatty, 60, no occupation. All b. N.Y.. No other doc. of child found to date.

Letter from Cornelia Dan (in Patchogue, L.I.) to Joel's brother, Selah (in NYC), written Jan. 8, 1830, says" I was happy to hear of your brother's marriage..." suggests that Selah attended his brother's wedding.

HUSBAND Joel LYMAN Dr.-122 Yr of Birth 1769
WIFE Mary "Polly" MERRICK-3998 Yr of Birth 1775

HUSBAND - Joel LYMAN Dr.-122

Doc: Glastonbury Vital Rec.Births Vol.I,p.57; Coleman p 64, 67 & 198; Vital Records Wilbraham, MA, CT Valley Hist. Soc., Springfield, MA

Marriage: Wilbraham Town Records, Book of Marriage Intentions, p. 214: "Joel Lyman & Polly Merrick both of this town, intend marriage together (word?) October 10, 1796. [They were married on 1 Nov 1795]

Coleman states he "..lived through life in Wilbraham, Mass., in the practice of his profession" . THE HISTORY OF WILBRAHAM (Chauncey Peck, 1913) on p. 297 has a List of Phsicians, 23 in all, who had served the town to that date. One listed as Jacob Lyman is undoubtedly Joel Lyman, as there are numerous other references to him as a Doctor, and none other to any "Jacob". He may have apprenticed with Dr. Samuel Fisk Merrick, a well-known physician at that time in Wilbraham & related to his wife.(See her family MRIN # 1157))

The same volume has a lengthy description of the earliest homes in Wilbraham along Main Street (pp 360-370, see file for copy). One of them,#7, which still stands (although extensively and poorly enlarged and remodeled) is listed as belonging " to the heirs of Dr. Joel Lyman in 1819" &, before that to "Jonathan Merrick in 1801". (his father-in-law)

Doc Death: Wilbraham Vit Rec Deaths Vol III "Lyman, Dr. Joel, d. November 27, 1809, aged 40" . Also, notice in HAMPSHIRE FEDERALIST, Vol IV No. 205 p.3, Thursday, December 7, 1809: "In Wilbraham, 27th ult of consumption, Doct. Joel Lyman, AEt 40, a kind husband and tender parent".

Probate Record: Hampshire County Registry of Probate, Northampton, Vol 26, 1809-1810, p 198: Mary Lyman & Augustus Sisson are appointed administrators of the estate of Joel Lyman, late of Wilbraham, deceased, 8 Feb 1810 (date of appointment, not his death). [This shows that Joel died intestate]

ibid, p 215: Mary Lyman is appointed guardian to Joel Merrick, Samuel, Henry, David, Charles Pynchon, Mary Caroline Lyman, children of Joel Lyman, late of Wilbraham, deceased--8 Feb 1810.

Hampshire County Registry of Probate, Vol 27, 1810-1811, p 50: Inventory of the estate of Dr. Joel Lyman, late of Wilbraham, deceased. [Very fine, almost unintelligible script, even when magnified.] 1st item: House furnishings, 1 acre of land & buildings there standing: $600. [Next pg a bit easier to read.] Items: 1 pair of boots & 1 greatcoat, 21 velum books on surgery & physick, 1 (word?) on divinity, 1 case pocket instruments, 1 case of needles & 1 case (word?) instruments, 1 case lancets from Master of Phila (?), 1 druggist case of 16 phials. Mary Lyman, administrator, swore this was a true inventory, date 11 April 1810.

Death is also doc. in CEMETERY INSCRIPTIONS OF WILBRAHAM, p. 11. Only 3 Lymans are listed there: Joel, his infant daughter Sarah M., & Samuel Lyman age 85, whom we assume to be Joel's father. They are buried in the same plot, & the deaths all occurred in a three year period, in 1807, 1808 & 1809.

HUSBAND Joel LYMAN Dr.-122 Yr of Birth 1769
WIFE Mary "Polly" MERRICK-3998 Yr of Birth 1775

The old (Adams) cemetery is on a side street off to the right of Main Street as you drive away from the center of Wilbraham. Joel Lyman's grave is #371-2, Row 7. The inscription states "d 27 Nov 1809, age 41. RKF & JGF visited there in Feb 1993, but the cemetery was too icy & snow-covered to explore. The information we obtained was from Larry Duquette [413/ 596-5113] of the Wilbraham Historical Commission, who lives next door to the cemetery. We will call on him when we make a return trip.

The Methodist & Congregational churches have merged into a modern United Church at 500 Main ST. To date we have not been able to determine what records are available. We will follow up: i.e., records of deaths of Joel & Samuel; births (& deaths) of Joel's children, etc.

The old Methodist Church is now a museum, open only for 2 hours on 1st Sundays of month. Will try to time our return to coincide with this.

Wilbraham Public Library has some genealogic information upstairs. This, too, should be researched.

RESEARCH QUESTIONS:

1) Newspaper information--Check any existing copies of the HAMPSHIRE FEDERALIST for information in addition to the two obituaries we have--any news about him as a practicing physician; about Polly: her life, death, possible second marriage; anything about any of his children, etc.

2) Wilbraham Census records 1790 & 1800--also later years for his family

3) Possible apprenticeship to/practice with Dr. Samuel F. Merrick (see Mary Merrick FGR)

4) Cemetery records his grave & plot--find sexton

5) Obituaries/ local histories--in addition to what we now have

Source: Wilbraham Vit.Rec.Birth & Marr(p. 141); also Coleman p 67. Also information descendant Mary Louise Berger submitted for Family Groupings Lyman Family Reunion '92 (# 278--p. 6)

Her name is intermittently given as either "Polly" or "Mary" on vital records: at her marriage, Coleman gives "Mary", Wilbraham Vit.Rec. give "Polly". On official birth records of her children, she is listed twice as "Polly", & four times as "Mary".

Wilbraham Vital Records, under "Marriages" Vol. II, lists the intent to marry of "Widow Mary Lyman and George Miller of Ludlow Mar 4, 1815". This may be a second marriage for this Mary, following her husband's death in 1809, and could explain why she does not seem to be buried next to him in the Adams Cemetery. Neither she or her second husband are listed in Wilbraham death or burial records.

HUSBAND Samuel LYMAN-120 Yr of Birth 1759
WIFE Rukamah ALLEN-4666 Yr of Birth

HUSBAND - Samuel LYMAN-120

Birth Doc: Glastonbury Vital Rec. Vol. I, p. 57

First Marriage: doc. DAR lineage book vol. 153, p 126. Also letter (see file) from his gr-gr-gr-grddtr. Mary Ann Ott & an Ancestor Chart submitted to the Windsor Historical Society by another desc., Margery Lyman Izard (see file for copy)

Second Marriage: Wilbraham Vit. Rec. Marr. p. 160. States "Samuel Lyman of Partridgefield"--a hamlet which later, or even at that time, was also called Peru, Berkshire. [Note that he & his first wife were both buried in Hinsdale, Berkshire Co. Both Peru & Partridgefield are currently part of Middlefield, Mass., which is just over the border from Berkshire Co.] The dates of this marriage fit, because 2nd marriage occurred 3 years after death of first wife.

Working assumption is this is the same Samuel because of his inclusion in data re other Lyman marriages (i.e. Joel; Joel's widow Mary; & Bina's brother Menzier R. Stebbins, also proximity of Partridgefield to Wilbraham & no other Lymans in Wilbraham.) Needs further research.

Stebbins were among the earliest settlers in Wilbraham, the first, Samuel, (b. 1708) settling there in 1734, before the town was incorporated; his brother Stephen (b. 1711) moving to LWilbraham from Longmeadow in 1711 & becoming the first settler in south Wilbraham, now Hampden. Over its early years, many Stebbins were prominent in civic affairs (See History of Wilbraham U.S.A., a Bicentenniel Edition 1763-1963 edited by Peck, p 266). Exact relationship to this woman's family not known.

Mr. Richard Wolfe
Curator of Rare Books & Manuscripts
Countway Library
Shattuck Street
Boston, MA 02115

Dear Mr. Wolfe:

Among the many interesting articles in the summer issue of the Harvard Medical Alumni Bulletin is "Countway's Biographical Sleuths." I was taken by the introductory photo montage because I am old enough to have known Fuller Albright and Stanley Cobb. In fact, I was one of three then-young men who shared an office at the MGH with Dr. Cobb and two other giants, Joseph Aub and Carl Binger. But that's another story.

My reason for writing is mention in this article that you have "records of the Massachusetts Medical Society from before 1851..." I hope these might contain some information on the brother of my wife's 3 x great-grandmother, Dr. Joel Lyman.

Joel Lyman was born in Glastonbury, CT, in 1769. In or before 1795, he moved to Wibraham, MA. He married Mary "Polly" Merrick that year and practiced medicine in that town for the rest of his short life. He died of consumption at age 40 on 27 November 1809.

We would like to learn more about Dr. Lyman, especially his medical education. Polly Merrick was a member of a prominent Wilbraham family which also included a well-known physician, Dr. Samuel Fisk Merrick. It's possible young Joel became a physician by apprenticing with Dr. Merrick.

Most of what we know about Dr. Lyman was obtained at the Connecticut Valley Historical Museum in Springfield; i.e., marriage and death records, inventory of estate, etc. The Massachusetts Medical Society told us its old records were at this Museum also, but the Museum could not find them. That was where the trail grew cold -- until I read about your holdings.

I have no illusions about what, if anything, your archives may contain on Dr. Lyman, but genealogical research is built on bits and pieces of evidence. Would it be possible for me to look through those old records? Since I am retired and live only two hours away, it would not be inconvenient for me.

However, if the archives are not open to the public, would it be possible for your staff to make a search? I expect there would be a charge for time involved, making copies, etc. Any information on this ancient physician would be well worth the cost.

Thanking you in advance for your consideration, I remain

Sincerely,

Countway's Biographical Sleuths

by Ellen Barlow

For Better or For Worse

by Thomas H. Coleman

My uncle, Jerome Head '23, was one of the first surgeons to open a live patient's chest. He became a respected surgeon in Chicago, a student of tuberculosis, and the father of six sons, four of them doctors. He told me this story.

In 1923 he was fortunate enough to be accepted as one of Harvey Cushing's interns in surgery at the Peter Bent Brigham. Cushing believed that surgical skills and practice were best learned in an atmosphere of undivided loyalty without unnecessary distractions. He had an absolute rule that no intern or resident on his service could be married.

One weekend Jerome took two days off to marry my wonderful Aunt Jean, a nurse at Children's Hospital. A few months later their secret was betrayed by someone who noticed that "Miss Milne" was securing the back of her apron with rubber bands. Through whispers and an intricate grapevine the news eventually came to Cushing.

One morning the resident in surgery came to Jerome with the message that Cushing wanted to see him that afternoon in the board room of the hospital. Jerome had a pretty good idea of the reason and spent the next few hours with depressing and anxious thoughts about his future, knowing he was about to be fired out of the best internship anyone could hope to have.

With a dry mouth and a low state of mind, he entered the room to face Cushing, who sat on the opposite side of the table with the chief resident and the hospital administrator. Jerome remained standing and was not invited to a chair, which gave the scene the merciless air of a court-martial.

They all had a go at him. Didn't he know the rules? Why did he think he was an exception? Didn't he realize this would distract him from the responsibilities of his internship? Jerome's memory of the experience was that as he stood there hearing those unanswerable questions, he slowly regressed to the shame and despair of a young son before a scolding father.

When Cushing had finished with him and said, "Well, Head, have you anything to say?" Jerome responded in a way he might have when he was only 12 years old: "No sir, except that I am very sorry and I won't let it happen again."

His other two inquisitors laughed out loud. Cushing didn't laugh, nor did he fire young Dr. Head. At the end of the internship in November Jerome wrote Cushing a note of appreciation. He answered: "Dear Head, I'm glad you feel that way. We will all expect great things of you for your sake, and our own. Give my regards to your wife. I wish I could have seen her again. She will keep you up to the mark. Always yours, Harvey Cushing."

Thomas H. Coleman '44 is an internist in Denver.

LURKING AROUND EVERY CORNER, piled in aisle after aisle, are James Jackson Putnam, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Hans Zinsser, Walter B. Cannon, Edward Churchill, Paul Dudley White, Fuller Albright, Stanley Cobb and legions more Harvard legends. Spend enough time in Rare Books at the Countway and you will hear them talking.

Dick Wolfe, curator of rare books and manuscripts, his wife Elin, associate curator of manuscripts and archives, and their staff of six could be kept busy for the next century organizing and cataloguing the papers left to the library by famous faculty and alumni. From some people, they have three or four boxes of letters, files, patient notations—papers accumulated throughout professional careers. In one of their most extensive collections—on Clarence Gamble '20 and his work in the birth control movement—they have 266 boxes holding over 100,000 pieces that have been read, labeled, individually placed in acid-free folders, and organized in boxes labeled with contents.

"Letters tell the background; they're where what was really going on emerges," says Dick Wolfe, who himself has published extensively on a diverse range of historical subjects. "In them you can get a sense of all the interlocking or fighting personalities. You don't find that in their published works."

For anyone writing a biography, giving a speech, or writing an article on an incident from medical history, these papers—plus the unsurpassed collection of rare books and manuscripts—are an El Dorado of opportunity. They are a never-ending source of biographies waiting to be written.

There are boxes of materials by members of the Harvard medical dynasties: the Shattucks, Warrens, Channings, Bowditches. There are records of the Massachusetts Medical Society from before 1851 to 1971; the post-WWII papers of George and Olive Smith, including their research on DES, which turned out later to be a horror rather than a help for miscarrying women. There are the patient records of Eugene Emerson, a psychologist at Mass. General Hospital and Mass. Mental Health Center who took over the patients of James Jackson Putnam. (Elin Wolfe calls this "One of the richest mental health collections of its kind.")

Physicians with a desire to keep a mentor or friend's memory alive, scholars, journalists and medical historians call and come in all the time to use these collections. About half of the Countway Library houses historical materials, which are the basis of its world-class status.

To write a biography or reconstruct history, the Wolfes are strong believers in hands-on scholarship. Browsing is essential to allow for serendipity, they contend. "You have to live with this stuff," says Dick Wolfe. "If you want to research a subject, you have to be like a shoe-leather epidemiologist—always reading, always collecting."

There is a physician from Tennessee sitting at a table, surrounded by boxes filled with materials from the Thorndike Laboratory by Bill Castle '21. He's working on his second draft of a biography and Dick Wolfe, who has been curator here for 30 years, is telling him stories about Castle, pulling out other materials as they occur to him. As Wolfe says later, "You read these things and you can hear Bill Castle talking."

Wolfe knows where everything is—even the uncatalogued—because he has literally carried all of it to where it now rests, after sifting through papers and transporting them from the benefactor's house or office. But even he finds things he never saw before or that pique his interest when he pulls out a box for someone else. "I start files and drop pieces in until someday I write something up," he says. He gets up every morning to write and has three or four projects going at once.

> "When a person lives and does things, it always involves others, which creates a lot of dust."

He just finished, for example, a lengthy article on John Dean, the first physician to do neuroanatomy research in the United States in the mid-nineteenth century. When he first started his research on Dean, all he had was a one-page obituary. That led to correspondence that he found at the Smithsonian. Then he came across a book by Dean from 1863 that had anatomical photos Dean had taken, such as of a cross section of the medulla—perhaps the first book with medical photography. From the single original page, Wolfe eventually wrote 120.

"When a person lives and does things, it always involves others, which creates a lot of dust," he says. "When the dust settles, you can recreate what went on. If you can find enough records, you can reconstruct from ashes."

He has written several books that each took a decade or longer to complete because there was not much material on their subjects: one on the historic rise and fall of the craft of marbled paper (Wolfe is a marbler himself) and the other on music engraving and publishing. Detective work to dig up information for these books took him to libraries across Europe.

Sometimes an article or book emanates from a forgotten footnote to history. Eli Chernin, a professor of tropical public health who started writing late in his career, wrote many fine medical history articles, says Wolfe. One was a definitive paper on Richard P. Strong and the Manchurian plague. When looking through Strong materials, Chernin discovered an incident that no one talks about today, although there was a public health investigation at the time: when Strong was experimenting on prisoners, someone switched vials and he unintentionally gave smallpox to his subjects.

Though obsessed is not the word Wolfe would use to describe how caught up you can get with the people you are researching, he does acknowledge that your subjects become your friends or your enemies whom you live with all the time.

"Of course, you try to get inside their heads and they certainly get inside yours," says Elin Wolfe, who is co-author with Cliff Barger '43A and Saul Benison of Walter B. Cannon: The Life and Times of a Young Scientist (Harvard University Press, 1987). She would find herself in conversation with her teenagers saying something like, "Well, in the case of Cannon..." and they'd groan. She was contracted to catalogue the Cannon papers in 1978 after completing several other major collections (at the time, she was not working full time in Rare Books) and Barger and Benison were so pleased with her results that they asked her to stay on the project as a co-author. They are now working on volume two.

So many collections remain uncatalogued because it takes time and money. "It's a very labor intensive activity," says Elin Wolfe, "but then so is scholarship. Learning is labor intensive." With the trend in libraries now to store materials off-site with only a bar code on the box, she is concerned that "no one is going to know the treasures lurking in that box." With on-line computer cataloguing, there is a further distancing of scholars from the people who can help them find what's in the box.

People write medical biographies out of respect or affection for their subject, and certainly not for the money.

They preserve these papers, because as Dick Wolfe says, "If we don't, who else will?" It's the same reason people write medical biographies—out of respect or affection for their subject, and certainly not for the money.

As for the actual writing of a book, Wolfe reveals what he believes are the three critical ingredients: you have to know something, be able to express it, and organize it. "Many people can do the first two, but few can do the third well." You need to be more than a good storyteller, he says. The book can't plod along; it should "want to be read."

There are academic presses that publish medical biographies but, he says, because they typically don't sell well, they're very difficult to get accepted. This is why he started Countway Library Publications in 1972 with a small fund of money to which the authors can contribute. They have published such medical biographies or histories as Benjamin V. White's '34 book on Stanley Cobb '14, Oglesby Paul's '42 books on Paul Dudley White '11 (1986) and on Francis Weld Peabody '07 (1991), Gordon Scannell's '40 account of Edward D. Churchill '20 on his Moselely Traveling Fellowship (1990), and Carleton Chapman's '41 on John Shaw Billings (1994).

Often Dick Wolfe advises people writing biographies to tape interviews with people who knew their subject. These oral histories then become part of the archives. In fact, in part because people aren't saving their papers as much these days, an oral history project—initiated by Arthur K. Solomon (professor of biophysics emeritus)—is, as Wolfe puts it, "getting them while they're alive." So far they have tapes and bound transcriptions of interviews with John Edsall '28, Francis D. Moore '39, George Thorn and Seymour Kety.

It's crowded on the three half-floors that Rare Books occupies in Countway, in more ways than physically. There are thousands of people from the past, patiently waiting for someone to listen to them once again.

In 1864 he moved the family homestead built by his grandfather (in 1785) off its original site & down the road. In its place he erected the lovely 24-room house that "still stands today like a sentinel of Lyman Orchards Country...".

Diana McCain of Ct. Hist. Soc., in an extensive monograph on him delivered at the 1992 Lyman Family Reunion, quoted a saying that " when his will was set on the accomplishment of any undertaking, it would have been well nigh as easy to turn a river from its course as to turn him from it". Considered by present day Lymans to have been the true founder of the present Lyman dynasty

Among the men who in 1857 founded in Middlefield the Metropolitan Washing Machine Company, which under his guidance by 1870 turned out 40,000 wringers & 12,000 washing machines worth $345,000 [in 1870 dollars]

Pres. of New Haven, Middletown & Willimantic Railroad. Made herculean efforts to make it succeed, specifically to get permission for a crucial drawbridge across the Ct. River at Middletown, working against great political odds. He finally succeeded, obtaining legislative approval in 1868; construction on the Air Line Railroad reached Middlefield by August of 1870. but, in McCain's words "..the rail project proved to be too great a burden for even the seemingly inexhaustible David Lyman, who died in January of 1871 at the age of 50. "Henry H. Lyman was justly classed among the representative men of the medical fraternity of the country. Possessing the endurance, ambition and economy characteristic of many of the boys of his day, he worked for low wages and paid his way in school at the best institutions of learning within his reach, at times doing chores for his board, until enabled to engage as a teacher. He was a student at Alfred University 1845-1848 and University of New York, Medical Dept. 1850-1851. He graduated from Buffalo Medical College in 1861. He married Cornelia Cowing of Hume on 09/28/1852 where during the previous year he began the labors of his profession and still enjoys a large and remunerative practice. He was a member of the DeMolay Commandery No 22 of Knights Templar of Horenville and has served the Hume Lodge as Master for eleven years and the Wyoming Chapter as High Priest for the same length of time." HUSBAND - Henry H. LYMAN M.D.-4098

Doc: His descendant Mary Louise Berger (~~#258 Lyman Fam Reunion 1992~~ Lyman Gen Supp p 268

"Henry H. Lyman was justly classed among the representative men of the medical fraternity of the country. Possessing the endurance, ambition and economy characteristic of many of the boys of his day, he worked for low wages and paid his way in school at the best institutions of learning within his reach, at times doing chores for his board, until enabled to engage as a teacher. He was a student at Alfred University 1845-1848 and University of New York, Medical Dept. 1850-1851. He graduated from Buffalo Medical College in 1861. He married Cornelia Cowing of Hume on 09/28/1852 where during the previous year he began the labors of his profession and still enjoys a large and remunerative practice. He was a member of the DeMolay Commandery No 22 of Knights Templar of Horenville and has served the Hume Lodge as Master for eleven years and the Wyoming Chapter as High Priest for the same length of time." [History of Allegany County, pp 388, 310]." [excerpt submitted ~~for reprinting of Lyman Coleman book~~ by M.L.Berger]

The following essay was submitted by M L Berger to the Coleman book update for the Lyman Reunion 1995: " Little is known of Mott's early childhood in Hume except that Dr. Henry and Cornelia were very religious. The children had to go to Sunday School each week and study the Bible. Mott always said that "an early piety and damp churches made him bald." His father also made the children memorize the dictionary and read good literature such as Dickens. Mott was named after a famous doctor, Valentine Mott,1785-1865. [See Dictionary of American Medical Biography for further information regarding Dr. Mott who was important to Dr. Henry H Lyman.]

Mott was educated at Genesee Teacher's College. He also majored in English and graduated from City University of New York. He taught at the famous Little Red School House, grades 1-12 at 196 Bleeker Street in Greenwich Village. During his life time, Mott worked as a teacher, commercial traveler for White House

Coffee, district manager for Mutual Life Insurance Company in New York, and foreman for Buick Construction Company in Flint, MI. Apparently he loved teaching the most but could not support 10 cjildren on his salary. (Mott's first born lived with his grandparents but visited often. Katie wanted him but grandparents did also.). On his visits as commercial traveler {salesman} to Elmira, NY, Mott stayed at the Giddings Boarding House where he met Kate Clinton Giddings. They were married in 1889 in Hornell, NY.

In 1917, the Lyman family became part of prosperous Flint, MI when they moved to work in the expanding automobile industry."

HUSBAND David LYMAN-4307 Yr of Birth 1820
WIFE Catherine Elizabeth HART-4313 Yr of Birth 1826

HUSBAND - David LYMAN-4307

Doc: Coleman p 214 "Lived on the farm of his forefathers on which--including his children--five generations of Lymans have [at that point] lived and are living".

In 1864 he moved the family homestead built by his grandfather (in 1785) off its original site & down the road. In its place he erected the lovely 24-room house that "still stands today like a sentinel of Lyman Orchards Country...".

Diana McCain of Ct. Hist. Soc., in an extensive monograph on him delivered at the 1992 Lyman Family Reunion, quoted a saying that " when his will was set on the accomplishment of any undertaking, it would have been well nigh as easy to turn a river from its course as to turn him from it". Considered by present day Lymans to have been the true founder of the present Lyman dynasty

Among the men who in 1857 founded in Middlefield the Metropolitan Washing Machine Company, which under his guidance by 1870 turned out 40,000 wringers & 12,000 washing machines worth $345,000 [in 1870 dollars]

Pres. of New Haven, Middletown & Willimantic Railroad. Made herculean efforts to make it succeed, specifically to get permission for a crucial drawbridge across the Ct. River at Middletown, working against great political odds. He finally succeeded, obtaining legislative approval in 1868; construction on the Air Line Railroad reached Middlefield by August of 1870. but, in McCain's words "..the rail project proved to be too great a burden for even the seemingly inexhaustible David Lyman, who died in January of 1871 at the age of 50. He had, everyone agreed, literally worked himself to death".

Doc: His grdtr Mary Louise Berger (#258 LFR '92)

Married 1st to Mary Corrigan, had 1 son by that marriage. See other FGR

The following essay was submitted by M L Berger to the Coleman book update for the Lyman Reunion 1995: " Little is known of Mott's early childhood in Hume except that Dr. Henry and Cornelia were very religious. The children had to go to Sunday School each week and study the Bible. Mott always said that "an early piety and damp churches made him bald." His father also made the children memorize the dictionary and read good literature such as Dickens. Mott was named after a famous doctor, Valentine Mott,1785-1865. [See Dictionary of American Medical Biography for further information regarding Dr. Mott who was important to Dr. Henry H Lyman.]

Mott was educated at Genesee Teacher's College. He also majored in English and graduated from City University of New York. He taught at the famous Little Red School House, grades 1-12 at 196 Bleeker Street in Greenwich Village. During his life time, Mott worked as a teacher, commercial traveler for White House Coffee, district manager for Mutual Life Insurance Company in New York, and foreman for Buick Construction Company in Flint, MI. Apparently he loved teaching the most but could not support 10 cjildren on his salary. (Mott's first born lived with his grandparents but visited often. Katie wanted him but grandparents did also.). On his visits as commercial traveler [salesman] to Elmira, NY, Mott stayed at the Giddings Boarding House where he met Kate Clinton Giddings. They were married in 1889 in Hornell, NY.

In 1917, the Lyman family became part of prosperous Flint, MI when they moved to work in the expanding automobile industry."

WIFE - Kate Clinton GIDDINGS-4296

Doc: Mary Louise (Howell) Berger, her granddaughter Lyman Gen Supp p 268

"Kate or Katie Lyman was born the year before the Civil War ended, but recalled stories told to her by her parents--tales about soldiers coming to their back yard to drink from the water pump. She moved to Elmira, NY when a small child. The eldest child, she with sisters used to help out at the boarding house by waiting on tables for dinner. However, she took a bookkeeping course, and at the age of 19 went to work for a local physician. Samuel Clemens was a good friend of the doctor and Kate knew him well."

"After Kate and Mott were married, they moved to Rochester, NY. What was life like for Katie raising all those children in numerous different towns from 1890-1917? (See file for detailed description of her daily life) To read the story of Kate's life is to agree with her sons and daughters that, 'her children will rise up and call her blessed.' Her family has a three-volume, 905 page family history to honor her, entitled "FORGET-ME-NOTS: Mott Valentine Lyman and Kate Clinton Giddings." On September 7, 1953, Katie wrote a letter to her children in which she said, 'Occasionally plant a few forget-me-nots -- --understand?'"

HUSBAND Mott Valentine LYMAN-4144 Yr of Birth 1863
WIFE Kate Clinton GIDDINGS-4296 Yr of Birth 1864

"Katie was to live in 17 different homes before she died on Thanksgiving Day, 1959."

SOLVING THE MUDDLE IN THE MIDDLE OF A LINEAGE

Ruth King Freymann

I descend from Thomas Ford, one of the founders of Windsor and co-founder of Simsbury. I take pride in claiming him as my 8th-great-grandfather, as I do in my kinship with his daughter Hepzibah. Her marriage to Richard Lyman established my lineage to another distinguished early American family.

I have been able to trace my English ancestry back through my 3rd-great-grandparents, Lebbeus Porter and Ruth Lyman, both born in Connecticut. They were married in about 1787 and may have lived in Connecticut for awhile before moving to Long Island, where Lebbeus was a school teacher until his death in 1819.

Despite a major effort to trace Lebbeus'ancestors, we have been unable to find any evidence to support family records[1] that he was born 14 October, 1742, in Colchester, CT. We decided that the only way we'd clarify my lineage was by concentrating on my Lyman connection.

We were promptly rewarded for that step. Early Glastonbury vital records[2] documented Ruth Lyman's birth 1 January 1765, along with the marriage of her parents, Samuel and Sarah (Bartlett) Lyman, and the birth dates of all her siblings, including her youngest brother Joel. [His importance to our search will appear below.]

We spent the next several years slogging our way through innumerable town halls, state libraries, national archives, cemeteries, churches--wherever the trail led. We knew that Samuel Lyman was Ruth's father, but we had to determine which of the innumerable Samuel Lymans he was. In the process we got to know many Samuel Lymans very well. One by one, we eliminated them, finally narrowing down to one Samuel Lyman who we thought was my lineal ancestor.

In our search we became familiar with Coleman's genealogy of the Lyman family[3]. Published in 1872, it is still considered an invaluable, reliable reference for Lyman ancestor search.

Unfortunately our faith in that reliability was shaken when we found how Coleman considered "my" Samuel. He assigned him in two separate references to two different fathers of two different generations descended from two different sons of Richard(2) and Hepzibah (Ford) Lyman. One line was Richard(3), Samuel(4), Samuel(5), James(6) to Samuel(7).[4] The second line was Thomas(3), Enoch(4) to Samuel(5).[5] For both Samuel(7) and Samuel(5) Coleman quoted the same vital statistics from Glastonbury records which we had found for "my" Samuel.

James(7) Lyman, born 1727, was the choice apparently accepted by most Lyman researchers as the father of Samuel Lyman. Yet the Samuel in question was married in 1757, which meant that the father was barely 30 years old when his son was married!

Enoch Lyman was the other candidate for father of my lineal ancestor. He seemed to us a more likely connection, but that hunch was compromized by Coleman's account of Enoch.[6] He listed Enoch as the 6th child of Deacon Thomas(3) and Ruth (Holton) (Baker) Lyman, b. Jan 18, 1691. Immediately after that, he wrote: "found only in Savage; he may have d. young; no date of any kind; no record of marriage; does not appear in the Durham records (where his father had moved in 1708 or 09), though the names of his three brothers appeared there repeatedly. This Enoch Lyman appears to have removed early to Glastenbury, where he m. Dinah Smith, dau. of Samuel Smith, b. Oct. 28, 1697. He appears to have inherited property from his wife and to have been a large landholder." Coleman then listed a number of land transactions between Enoch and Samuel Smith, his brother-in-law, and finished by stating "appears to have d. between 1745-8, leaving a dau. Dinah and a son Samuel."

We were caught in a dilemma. On the one hand, Coleman traced a pretty full life, including a son and a daughter, for a person named Enoch. On the other hand, he suggested Enoch either never existed at all, or at best only briefly.

Where this left me was that I was certain about my Lyman lineage from the first Richard to the second Richard and his wife Hepzibah. I was equally certain about my lineage up the chain through my 4th great-grandparents, Samuel and Sarah (Bartlett) Lyman. What I had was a "muddle in the middle" of my lineage. Solving that meant tackling four research problems: 1) establishing that Thomas Lyman had a son named Enoch; 2) documenting that Enoch Lyman married Dinah Smith; 3) determining that Enoch had a son, Samuel; and 4) proving that same Samuel was the father of my ancestor Ruth Lyman.

We got a great boost when, just at this point, Donna Holt Siemiatkoski published the first draft of her book.[7] In it, she attributed Samuel Lyman's lineage as we had, to Enoch as his father, and Thomas as Enoch's father. She provided no documentation, but her careful study and thoughtful conclusions strengthened our belief that we were on the right track.

Next we decided to follow information we had about Ruth's brother, Joel Lyman[8], in hopes he would lead us to their father. Joel and Mary "Polly" (Merrick) Lyman were the parents of seven children, six of whom had survived into adulthood. Joel (1769-1809) practiced medicine in Wilbraham, Massachusetts during his brief life. Their home is still standing on its quiet main street.

Probate records[9] gave us further information about Joel, but the most exciting find came when I uncovered the following item in an old newspaper[10] "Thursday Nov. 12, 1807 Died: In Wilbraham, of a fit of apoplexy, on the 5th inst., Mr. Samuel Lyman, aet 85." Could this be my Samuel? A search of the burial records reinforced that feeling. Only three Lymans were buried in Wilbraham's Adams Cemetery: Joel Lyman, his infant daughter, and the elderly Samuel Lyman.

We drove to Adams Cemetery, where we found the Lyman gravestones[11] standing almost alone. The center one was inscribed to "Doc/t Joel Lyman" (died 1809). About two and a half feet to the west was another, smaller tombstone, that of Sarah, infant daughter of Joel & Mary Lyman (died 1808). An equal distance to the east of the center stone, matching the smaller gravestone (as both match the larger one), was a stone inscribed: "In memory of Mr. Samuel Lyman, Who Died Nov. 5, 1807, in the 85 Year of his Age." The similarity of the stones and their proximity convinced us that this was the grave of the father of Joel and Ruth Lyman.

Our next move was to pin down Samuel Lyman's antecedents. We started by examining more records in Glastonbury. We found the marriage of Samuel Smith and Jane Tudor[12], daughter of Owen Tudor[13] (another Windsor ancestor for me!), and the names and birth dates of their eight children. Of these, two sons and three daughters had survuved into adulthood. In the land records we found numerous transactions between 1727 and 1748[14] among Samuel Smith, his sons Samuel and Joseph, his daughters Rachel and Dinah, and Enoch Lyman. In one transaction, Rachel Smith referred to "my brother Enoch Lyman of Glastonbury".[15] Another referred to land owned by Samuel Smith that "fell to Enoch Lyman & his wife." [16] We now knew beyond doubt that Enoch had lived in Glastonbury and had been married to a daughter of Samuel Smith.

A most important discovery was the land record which might have been the basis for Coleman's assumption about the children of Enoch Lyman.[17] First was a deed from "Mr Nath/ll Collins & his wife Rachel & Sam/l & Dinah Lymon all of Glastonbury..." This was followed by an entry dated August ye 9th, 1748, and signed by a justice of the peace, that states "These personally appeared appeared Mr Natha/l Collins & Mrs Rachel Collins Mrs Dinah Lymon & mr Sam/l Lymon above grantors....." Enoch Lyman was not mentioned here or ever again, which suggests he was dead by this date. (Coleman says he died abt 1745-48).[18] Samuel Lyman must have been Enoch's son, who would have been about 26 at that time. The Dinah Lyman mentioned could have been either Enoch's widow or his daughter. (In mid-18th century "Mrs", an abbreviation for "Mistress", did not necessarily mean a woman was married.) Rachel was noted as the wife of Nathaniel; Dinah and Samuel were not so linked. Thus we had now proved Enoch had a son named Samuel and that either his wife or his daughter was named Dinah.

Then we found a deed dated 26 Feb 1785[19], wherein Samuel Lyman, Sr., on behalf of himself and "my beloved wife Sarah", deeded land "unto Sam/l Lyman J/r & Isaac Lyman & Sarah wife of Stephen Bartlet of said Glastonbury". The close link to the Smith family was demonstrated by the deed's reference to the land as "the same piece of land that Sam/l Smith sold his sister Rachel Smith..." The Glastonbury birth records already cited proved the grantees mentioned in this deed were the three oldest siblings of Ruth and Joel Lyman. The two youngest, Joel, 15, and Irena, 7, were minors and could not be named. Ruth, 20, had reached the age of majority. We don't know why she was not named, other than that she may already have been married and living elsewhere. This deed proves that Samuel Lyman, son of Enoch, was the father of Ruth, i.e. "my" Samuel.

This same deed also proved that Samuel and Sarah (Bartlett) Lyman were still living in Glastonbury in 1785 at ages abt 63 & 54. This contradicts Coleman's statement that Samuel Lyman, Sr. seemed "at a late point in life to have removed to Bolton,Conn." Two other Glastonbury deeds[20] document that,Samuel Lyman, Jr., not his father, was living in Bolton in 1780.

But now we encountered a new problem. Chapin's highly authoritative book on early Glastonbury[21] states that Dinah Smith, daughter of Samuel Smith, married Joseph Brewer in 1727! Scurrying back to the vital records, indeed we found irrefutabe evidence[22] of the marriage of a Dinah Smith to Joseph Brewer; of their family of six children; and of their long life together in Glastonbury.

That left us only two possibilities. Either another of Samuel Smith's daughters was Enoch's wife, or there were two Dinah Smiths of marriagable age in the same period in Glastonbury.

We knew that Samuel & Jane (Tudor) Smith's three daughters were Rachel, Mary and Dinah. The land records showed that Rachel married Nathaniel Collins between 1734 and 1738. Also, Rachel named Enoch in one record as "my beloved brother." If Dinah was out, that left only Mary, a possibility that soon disappeared. In Glastonbury's Green Cemetery[23], next to the tombstones of Samuel and Jane Tudor Smith, we found the grave of their daughter Mary, who died unmarried in 1719.

More to give ourselves a breather than any other reason, we returned to Colchester, looking again for evidence of Lebbeus Porter's birth there. That search was fruitless, but, in the most serendipitous moment of this whole saga, we found instead a wealth of information about the Smiths of Glastonbury and Enoch Lyman! We knew from probate and other records that the elder Samuel Smith had two brothers living in Glastonbury, Benjamin and Joseph.[24] In one of these Colchester deeds, Benjamin Smith "of Glastonbury" gave a piece of land in 1725 to "my well beloved daughter Dinah Smith of ye said Glastonbury singell (sic) woman..."[25] So there was another Dinah Smith in Glastonbury, cousin to and contemporary with Samuel Smith's daughter Dinah, who was "singell" in 1725. Thus it could certainly have been she who married Joseph Brewer in 1727.

The piece de resistance came with the next deed we found in Colchester.[26] In 1731/32 Samuel Smith of Glastonbury gave 47 acres of land to "my son in Law Enoch Lyman of Glastonbury,..., Schoolmaster, & to my daughter Dinah his wife." This was followed by several further sales of land by "Enoch Lyman & Dinah his wife."[27]

Now we had proven that Enoch Lyman married Dinah Smith, that they had a son Samuel, and that this Samuel was the father of Ruth Lyman. Only one of our research problems remained, documenting that Enoch Lyman was the son of Thomas Lyman. It was the simplest step of all. It was thrilling to walk into Northampton's Town Hall and within only a few minutes locate in their oldest records[28] the birth of Enoch, son of Thomas and Ruth (Baker) Lyman. Somehow Lyman Coleman had simply missed it!

Our search continues. We have not found marriage, death or burial records for Enoch and Dinah, or birth records for any children, i.e., Samuel^5 Lyman and a reputed daughter Dinah. We'd like to find a birth record for Dinah Smith, daughter of Benjamin Smith. And the parents and other forebears of Lebbeus Porter still evade us.

Nevertheless, we have solved the "muddle in the middle" of my lineage. Enoch^4 Lyman, his wife Dinah Smith, and their son Samuel^5 can rest peacefully in their rightful places.

LYMAN MEADOWS, 1992

by Frank T. Lyman, Jr. of Columbia, Maryland

Luminaries, illumined
In multistarred Connecticut
Night
Around tables,
Ballooned
By abolition
Of mortality-
Listened Lymans
In and outlawed
Apart
From everyday Consequence,
Forbearing
Still towns,
Forswearing
Mere towns,
Hushed that
No apple fall
(Nor did it)
Far from tree
Or roots-
Where Sarah Osborne
Waits
With Richard,
Neither of whom
(Thank you, Frank)
Despite prior claim
Ennobled, though
At least, now
Even she Sistered,
Bewheeled.

Don't let it go
Dorothy, Margaret,
Charles
It was no work
Just centuries
Of labor
Loved, salted
In orchard earth.

And we,
Pierced by aforementioned
Blue eyes
In kinship
O'er the lea
Man and woman
Renew
Our ties.

Editor's Note: This poem was originally sent to Margaret after the Reunion. Of it Frank says, "It is a bit 'in', but those who were there may catch glimmers."

SOME THOUGHTS ON THE LYMAN REUNION OF 1992

by Ruth K. Freymann of Avon, Connecticut

I stumbled into being a Lyman several years ago in my quest for the origins of my great-great-great grandfather, Lebbeus Porter. I knew he had married someone named Ruth Lyman, but beyond my pleasure in discovering that I carried her first name I knew little else about Lymans. We embarked upon Lyman research mostly as a way to find more about him, but before long my husband Jeff and I were both hooked on the fabulous Lyman history, up to our very earlobes in discoveries about all the Richards and Samuels and Thomases, about Hepzibah Ford and about just how MANY Lymans there were sprinkled throughout New England, indeed the United States. We had learned a lot about Lymans, including even a pilgrimage in 1991 to High Ongar. By that time I was absolutely aware that I was a Lyman, and proud of it.

So when we first saw the notice in NEHGS about the 1992 Lyman Family Reunion, we were ripe and ready to identify ourselves with this tribe. More than I realized, until then my Lymanness was all pretty academic, something out of the IGI and the archives, not my life experience. All that changed from the moment, less than a week after I sent a letter of inquiry, when I received a hand-written memo of information and welcome, signed by "Cousin Margaret". The tone that set was the essence of our entire involvement in the reunion.

In this article you will see mentioned a trip to High Ongar! Ruth has sent an article on that trip and it will be in the next issue. Her letter to me ends with this heartfelt sentiment, "Because of course there must be a next reunion."

We live less than an hour's drive from Middlefield, although we had never been there before the bright sunny morning of August 28, when we drove through Connecticut's lush summer green to 190 Powder Hill Road, the site of the reunion. It turned out to be the top of a high hill overlooking a far-reaching stretch of fruit orchards, rolling hills and valleys with picturesque old homes and a little town all tucked neatly away, the very epitome of New England beauty. And all of it, as would become more clear, was truly "Lyman Country".

Under a large yellow & white striped tent a small army of Lymans had already gathered and were busily chattering, sipping apple juice from the family farm, and admiring the fascinating exhibits: photographs, old documents, quilts, many scrapbooks, newspaper clippings, a veritable pot–pourri of Lyman lore. They were also being registered, receiving impressive kits of information and putting on nametags which listed each individual Lyman's descent, generation by generation, from Richard (1) and Sarah. Those worthy souls married by Lymans (whom we discovered later have been given the designation "Outlaws" by the Middlefield family) received tags which identified them by their primary Lyman "Inlaw". For me the name tags were important not only for the chance they gave us all to sort ourselves out according to our lineage, but because they were a symbol of just how thoroughly Margaret, Dorothy and Charles had organized and attended to the smallest details, thereby allowing each of us to feel we truly were part of a family reunion.

From that beginning each event of our stay in Middlefield was pure pleasure. We took a bus ride, with Dorothy as our guide, through the fields, orchards and a number of the marvelous old homes built by early Lymans, lovingly maintained by present ones. There was golfing for those who chose it at the Lyman Meadow Golf Club; shooting at the (Lyman) Blue Trail Rifle Range; pick–your–own–fruit at any of the numerous Lyman Orchards; shopping, among other places, at the (Lyman) Apple Barrel Farm Shop, the Lyman Gun Shop or the (Lyman) Pro Shop. All of the above, incidentally, were offered at a 10% discount for the weekend. Or, as it turned out, just by having on your Lyman badge.

For the history buffs and serious genealogists there were self–guided tours of the wonderful old cemeteries, with graves of important early Lymans marked by flags with the Lyman coat–of–arms. There was the opportunity to work on the Lyman Genealogy Wheel. There were also photocopy machines and genealogic computer demonstrations available under the tent all through the weekend.

Saturday evening the whole shebang culminated in a number of events, all of them incredibly well done. First there was a happy hour on Powder Hill, looking out in the sunset over what had become OUR valley, watching an enormous multiple headed kite soaring and swooping over us (powered by a fellow Lyman, of course), and enjoying luscious hors d'oeuvres personably served by a local crew. Next we had a group photograph—a seismic undertaking all on its own. Who but a Lyman would even attempt not just to photograph a lump of some 250 people, but undertake to determine by number just where everyone was standing so we can all point ourselves out to out great–grandchildren! Just as the sun set, a colorful balloon was inflated and tethered for our looking pleasure. (Unfortunately there was not enough time for anyone to ride in it––one of the very few small glitches of the day.)

Our delicious dinner was served under huge canopies next to the (Lyman) Green Fields Restaurant, ending with ice cream topped by a sauce made from You–Know–Who's very own peaches. We were treated to some short talks by Margaret, Dorothy and Charles. We were given a proclamation by the First Selectman of Middlefield, in which August 29, 1992 was proclaimed Lyman Family Day. Three speakers, exhorted by Margaret to keep it brief, gave us some really interesting perspectives on Lymans. One concentrated on the exemplary history of the Middlefield Lymans; one gave an engrossing history of the Hawaiian Lymans; and the third was a provocative review of our royal and otherwise important connections to public figures—or lack of same.

Jeff and I will always treasure our memories of the Lyman Family Reunion of 1992. We thought it was a marvelous event, and the key to its success was that so many people seemed to enjoy it for many different reasons. That diversity was built in to the whole plan and it came from a genuine commitment on the part of Margaret, Dorothy and Charles not only to try to meet the needs of all those who chose to attend, but to make us all feel like part of a family.

The whole reunion was summed up nicely for me by a quotation Diana McCain used in her talk, from Henry Ward Beecher, son of the Rev. Lyman Beecher at the last Lyman Reunion in 1859 at Mt. Tom. He said then, "I never knew of a Lyman that was hung, or deserved to be." At a minimum I would hope we could all agree, 133 years and three stimulating reunion days later, that there's a good chance that sentiment may still be appropriate. Jeff and I can hardly wait for the next one, hopefully in 1994. And next time we plan to bring all our troops, all 14 of us.

Oh yes, one last thing. I still don't have a clue about the parents of my great–great–great grandfather Lebbeus Porter. Any Lymans out there who can help me out ?

IT'S NOT A QUESTION OF WHAT I WANT

This is your newsletter. The content is up to you and what you want to see in it. Some of you have asked what I want for the newsletter. As far as I am concerned, I am just a typist. But I can give you some ideas on what might be of interest. (Really, anyting that is of interest to you should probably interest some of your cousins as well.)

There could be a column called "For the Record" in which would be listed recent births, marriages, deaths, and could even have special celebrations such as 50th anniversaries, 100th birthdays, awards and special recognitions.

Questions and answers on the Lyman genealogy and lost relatives. Thumbnail autobiographies of living "Lymans" and short biographies of our most interesting ancestors. Poems or short, short stories written by Lymans, living and historical. (Check on any copyrights, please) Also, sayings, homilies, old family recipies, unusual facts attributed to Lymans. Lyman achievements in American history. Visits to High Ongar, cemetaries and other places where Lyman records are kept. Lists of important Lyman documents you have that others might want copies made of.

I have also tried to leave enough room on the left margin so that those who wish to bind the newsletters may do so.

HAWAII

by Bette Farr

The last time I was in Hawaii I learned of the Lyman Museum in Hilo. Unfortunately, by the time I was aware of it my schedule on the Islands did not permit me to get to the museum but I did call their office and as a result had several of their brochures and booklets forwarded to me. I also purchased a book entitled, THE LYMANS OF HILO which is the diary of Sarah Joiner Lyman, as a missionary to Hawaii.

I learned there is an Arthur Lyman Band that at one time (about 20 years ago) was very active and still plays at the Waialae Country Club.

MacKinnon Simpson, a Lyman descendant living outside of Honolulu, is writing another book entitled, "The Lymans of Hawaii's Island: A Pioneering Family". I contacted him in the hopes he could meet me for a short time prior to my departure but he had company coming and was unable to do so. According to Mr. Simpson there is a large branch of the Lyman family in the Hawaiian Islands, descendants of David Belden Lyman (1803–1884), who went round the Horn in a whaling ship in 1832 as missionaries. He is a writer/historian and was commissioned by the Lyman Museum to do a book on the family.

Since my retirement I have been very active putting trips, one day as well as multi–day ones, together for various groups. I work through a very reliable company and did have 65 on my most recent trip to Hawaii that was totally planned by this company. I have tried to create some interest in our local Lyman reunion to go to Hawaii but as yet haven't stirred up enough activity to make it a go. If enough of the Lymans would like to go to Hilo and visit the restored home and the museum, see where our descendants landed and did missionary work I will be glad to make the arrangements, notify you of the dates, cost, itinerary etc. It would involve this company making special arrangements to visit our points of interest and we should decide how much more sight seeing we would like to do.

THE OREGON TRAIL 1843–1993

Some of our western "cousin's" ancestors may have arrived via the Oregon Trail. While planning your vacation this year you may be interested in the following:

Oregon will lead the nation in 1993 commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Great Migration of 1843, the first major crossing of emigrants across the Oregon Trail. To receive a calendar of events (from February through September), please contact the Oregon Tourism Division at 775 Summer Street NE, Salem, OR 97310 or (800) 547–7842. They can also provide you with a map called "A Self–Guiding Tour of the Oregon Trail across Oregon."

You can also write to federal agencies, county historical societies, chambers of commerce, and tourism departments in the Trail states (Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon) you'll pass through. They will send helpful and interesting information.

The Oregon National Historic Trail combines the overland routes that nearly half–a–million emigrants followed to the West. Beginning in the 1840's and for nearly thirty years afterward, west–bound emigrants followed the many different overland trails, some 2,000 miles from Independence, Missouri, west to destinations in California, Utah, Nevada, Washington, and Oregon.

SOME LYMANS MOVE WEST

Ezra Lyman, son of Able and Hannah Storrs, was born at Brookfield, VT in 1789. In 1811 he married Mercy Cushman, and soon took his bride to Potsdam, New York. They had four children, all born there, including our Ezra Cushman Lyman, born 1814.

In the fall of 1833, in a colony of fifty–two people, including his four named brothers, Ezra and his family moved from Potsdam to Sangamon County, Illinois. They settled on Prairie Creek, about nine miles northeast of Springfield. History goes on to say, "They were eight weeks on the road, and observed the fourth commandment by resting every Sabbath and assembling for divine worship, which was conducted by Rev. Billious Pond, who fell in with the company at Oswego, N.Y."

Ezra Cushman Lyman, only son of Ezra and Mercy, was nineteen years old when his father moved the family to Illinois. On March 28, 1840, he married Caroline Van Patten. They Had eight children, including Cornelius and Cushman of our story of the move west. (Note: another son was John D., who married Mary Viola Ross, whose descendant did attend the reunion, namely Elizabeth Lyman Ferry of Taylorville, IL.)

By 1874, Sangamon County must have been swarming with people, because Ezra moved his family to Maroa, Illinois. We can't say for sure that this is why he moved, but the pattern is formed for moving. Before he died, Ezra moved once more, this time to Dayton, Washington Territory, in 1881. Other Van Pattens had already moved to that area. Four of his children also moved to Washington, namely Cushman and his wife, Margaretta, (grandparents of Lyman Wiltshire), Hannah and husband, Tom Earnest; Laura and husband, Oath Long, and Cornelius and wife, Tryphena.

In 1881 thses families of Lymans went from Illinois to San Francisco by train, keeping house in a box car, taking with them their personal belongings, furniture, equipment, and livestock. (I personally cannot even visualize what this must have been like, with several small children, animals, and all, getting meals for the families. I don't know just where they all slept!) They traveled by ship from San Francisco to Portland, and on up the Columbia River (long before there were any locks) to Wallula. From there they journeyed overland to Walla Walla, and by wagons to Dayton, the train line not yet completed to that destination. What a trip! and with wives of Cornelius and Cushman both pregnant!

They stopped in Dayton to visit the Van Patten family who had left Sangamon in 1879. The night they arrived there was an unseasonably early frost, which ruined the Van Patten vegetable garden. And there they were, with a house full of guests! However, this was a good stop for the families, for they found land and opportunity around Dayton, and they gave up their original idea of going to the Palouse country.

Descendants of Cornelius Lyman are still farming in that fine wheat country. Cushman's one son suffered an accident to his leg, and was unable to farm, but continued to live in Dayton until his death. His daughter, Ruby Dell Lyman, married Bowles Wiltshire in 1910, and their son Lyman was born there. That family moved to Portland after awhile. However, this adventurous family did reach "The West", and all became successful in their endeavors.

(Adapted from the story by Don and Ruth Lyman for their children. They have more stories in their booklet about Cornelius and his family.)

This article was submitted by Margaret F. Wiltshire (Mrs. Lyman L.) of Kenwood, CA. She says her husband's mother, Ruby Dell Lyman, was born in Dayton, WA in 1881. Her cousins still live in that town. She first met some of them on their honeymoon in 1948. One of them is listed in Margaret Lyman's great computer printout, #527 Donald Jack Lyman.

In 1629 he sold to John Gower lands and orchards and a garden in Norton Mandeville, in the parish of Ongar, and in August, 1631, embarked with his wife and five children on the ship "Lyon," for New England. They landed at Boston and Richard Lyman settled first at Charlestown, and with his wife united with the chruch of which Eliot, the Indian Apostle, was pastor. He was admitted a freeman, June 11, 1635, and in October of the same year, joining a party of about a hundred persons, went to Connecticut and became one of the first settlers of Hartford, where he was one of the original proprietors in 1636, receiving thirty parts of the purchase from the Indians. His house was on the south side of what is now Buckingham street, the first lot from Main street, west of the South Church. His will was dated April 22, 1640, and proved January 27, 1642, together with that of his wife, who died soon after he died. He died in 1640.

From the Editor:

As I write this I can hardly believe it is April and I am working on the 'Spring' issue of "Down the Lyman Line." The high ~~barely~~ made it to 40 degrees (lower than the normal low!) and there were snow flurries this afternoon. So unlike our usual Missouri Springtime. The Annual Dogwood Festivals are usually scheduled for the third weekend in April but as of yesterday, the 14th, I had not seen a dogwood in bud much less flowering!

My husband and I have a computer typesetting business (as well as recharging laser printer and copier cartridges) and over the years have typed several newsletters for businesses in the area as well as a monthly newsletter for our church for 5 years. So it only seemed natural to think of putting together a newsletter for the Lyman Family. I hope that many of you will enjoy this endeavor and contribute articles for it as well as enjoy reading about your cousins.

My mothers family has always had loads of "stuff" in files and boxes about our Lyman ancestors, with all the generations listed back to John, son of Richard, and other branches of the family as well.

In 1979 an 1980, while living in Aurora, Colorado, I spent several afternoons a week in the Denver Public Library. They have the largest Genealogical branch west of the Mississippi other than that of the Church of the Latter Day Saints in Salt Lake City, Utah. I researched all branches of our particular line forward and backward. If anyone out there needs information on some of the wives' families (check me out at number 57 for their names, you'll find it near the bottom of the first page of Margaret's "great computer printout") drop me a line anytime.

It was while I was trying to come to grips with my great-grandmother Mary Frost Hills, wife of Thomas Wilcox Lyman, that I made a momentous discovery. I located a book on William Hills and his descendants. The Hills family information from our family records had been traced back to Amos Hills (Mary's great grandfather). In the Hills book I found Amos was the great–great–great grandson of William Hills who immigrated to America in 1632 on the "Lyon". And who was the wife of William Hills?—none other than Phillis Lyman, daughter of Richard Lyman. (Actually she was the first of three, but she did have the first son who is of our line.) I could hardly believe it. I wanted to shout and stomp my feet but had to hold it all in as I was inside the library! So following John, the second son of Richard Lyman, down eight more generations and Phillis, daughter of Richard Lyman, down seven more generations and you come up with Thomas Wilcox Lyman who married Mary Frost Hills—my great grandparents. Even after all this time I still find it hard to believe! You'll find Phillis' line of descent near the bottom of page two on the "great computer printout". Anyone who has done any genealogical research will understand how I felt, I'm sure.

I have gone on long enough for now but in the next issue will be an article about one of the illustrious Hills and you will find that I mean that literally, too.

With cousinly regards,

Jorn

P.S. Everyone is always curious about my name. It is not a misspelling of Bjorn but is actually an old Nordic name Joren (and pronounced with a Y sound) and was my great grandmother's name on my father's side of the family. My parents anglicized the name. The male version of the name is more familiar—Loren.

APPLE AND PEAR BLOSSOM TIME!
WISH YOU WERE HERE TO SEE THEM

I am so pleased to be able to include this page of news from Margaret, Dorothy and Charles.

Memo from: Cousins Margaret, Dorothy and Charles

To: All you wonderful relatives and "outlaws"

A glorious week in Connecticut, sunny, warm, and cool at night! The bees are busy giving us one of the best "sets" for peaches, apples and pears in quite a while. Last weekend was our annual stockholders' meeting. Big doings with the building of the second golf course, to open in the Spring of 1994. Lots of good earth being moved around. Fascinating to watch. Charles will have a detailed picture album, you may be sure.

We couldn't resist Jorn's invitation to fill up the back page with anything we wanted to say. Most importantly, we are still aglow from the excitement of the Reunion; we are thrilled with the account of the Reunion written by Ruth Freymann, and indeed the entire Volume 1, Number 1 we think is first–rate and hope it will continue to thrive.

Yes, we very much want to organize another Reunion and believe we would do a better job if we selected 1995 instead of 1994. As soon as we have settled on a weekend, you will all be the first to know. We want to have a lot more "things genealogic" going on, and want to begin getting ideas from you. None too soon to start.

[From Margaret: Work is proceeding on the "name those bodies in the picture", but somewhat slowed down by my wanting to include relationships, without having thought about it ahead of time. I have the information in the files, but it's slow getting it. Don't hold your breath.]

Other unfinished business: review all the files for your interesting genealogical information, prepare an annotated list, look for material for this newsletter, and develop ideas on how to make the 1995 reunion the best yet.

Have a wonderful Summer, and best to you all.

TWINS

Charles Lyman sent this item of interest:

In our family line from Richard II, we have not come across a set of twins until 1986 but now there are three sets in our Middlefield Lyman Clan.

Jeffrey and Ellen – born 8/30/86; son and daughter of Richard and Cindy Patterson

Sarah and Laura – born 10/7/91; daughters of John III and Elaine Lyman

Greg and Katie – born 6/5/92; son and daughter of Dan and Judy Lyman Smith

HIGH ONGAR, MANDEVILLE, & NAVESTOCK

The following is an excerpt from the journal kept by Jeff Freymann, a Lyman Outlaw (or maybe Wannabe?) on a trip made in 1991 to find Ruth's Lyman roots in High Ongar.

Tuesday, November 8, 8:30 PM

Ruth and I are tucked away in a nice room under the eaves of the Hotel St. Olave in Loughton, a small city on the extreme eastern fringe of Metropolitan London. If you have never heard of Loughton, neither had we until this morning. How did we get here? With great difficulty — but that's part of today's story.

We arrived by train from Scotland this morning. Euston Station at the peak of the morning rush was a startling contrast to yesterday's Scottish tranquility. After a quick snack, we stashed most of our luggage and took the Tube to Liverpool Street Station. Here we caught the 10 AM train for Chelmsford, the nearest large city in Essex to the seat of Ruth's Lyman ancestors, High Ongar.

We have now learned that public libraries are good sources for information, so we went directly to the huge one in Chelmsford. There we found that the Regional History Center which includes Ongar is in the Loughton library. We decided we should acquaint ourselves with local geography before going to that library. The Mormon Library at home has baptismal and marriage records on the Lymans from 1442–1633 (when they left for America), and each event had occurred at one of three places in Essex: High Ongar, Mandeville, or Navestock. However, we didn't know if the latter two were towns, churches or manors. So we rented a Ford Sierra from a bunch of Indians who run the local Budget agency and headed west across the gently rolling fields of Essex, still bright green under dull overcast even this late in the year.

High Ongar was easy to find. Its one street (labeled "The Street") turns off the main highway and is only a few blocks long. Along one side is a line of houses, some quite old, none very new, and two attractive pubs. Half of the other side is taken up by the churchyard of the Parish Church of St. Mary. Here, in a spacious yard that contains graves spanning three centuries, is a lovely little church. Its most striking feature is the walls of the nave. They are built of flint rubble embedded in mortar, a style characteristic of Essex in the 12th and 13th centuries. Only the tower is new, having been built in 1858. We entered through a door notable for its Norman dog–tooth ornamentation, also a relic of the 12th century.

The interior is unadorned, although the whitewashed walls may once have been brightly painted. (Traces of paint were found on one wall after an ancient pew was moved in the 1960s. The Puritans, of course, eschewed all decoration, and this area was the center of the Puritan movement.) Two small stained–glass windows above the altar are particularly interesting because one shows the arms of Jane Seymour; the other those of Henry VIII. Why they are here is not explained!

Among the marble memorials affixed to the walls is a large one to Richard Stane, 1630–1714. The name struck our eyes because the Mormon records give the name of the mother of Richard Lyman (born in 1580, he took his family to America and was a founder of Hartford) variously as Phyllis Stane or Stone. We thought Stane might have been a misprint; now we know that was the name of a prominent family in this parish.

A pamphlet on St. Mary's Church told us that its first records date from the early 12th century. Estace, Count of Bologne, whose family came with William the Conqueror, gave the right to chose High Ongar's clergyman to a Clunias Priory in France. The pamphlet also mentioned that High Ongar Parish is divided in three parts: High Ongar, Marden Ash, and Morton Mandeville. Pursuing that clue, we inquired at the pub across the street and were told that Norton Mandeville was out in the fields on the other side of the highway.

We crossed the highway and drove along a narrow paved road which soon gave way to a gravel track along the edge of a plowed field. The further we drove, the surer I was we had taken a wrong turn, but Ruth insisted we should keep going. Then, rounding a curve, we came upon a tiny church on the edge of the field. As we drove up, we found several farm buildings behind it. A large flock of geese and ducks waddled out of our way. Down a little lane to our left, at some distance from the church, was a large, gabled 19th century house before which hung a sign: "Norton Hall." The ducks and geese were the only living things in sight.

All Saints' Church of Norton Mandeville is a little gem. Also built of flint rubble, it dates from the first half of the 14th century but contains some blocks of stone from an earlier 12th century church. Its history also goes back to the Norman Conquest. Geoffrey de Mandeville came from a village of that name in Normandy and landed at Hastings with William. (Norton comes from "North Tun", meaning homestead or village.) All Saints' was probably built as a "chapel of ease" for the village of High Ongar, which is within walking distance. A document dated 1181 says that parson of High Ongar had a "cure of souls" in Norton Mandeville, yet, in spite of this proximity, this did not become part of High Ongar parish until 1958! Over the intervening centuries it went through a number of jurisdictions, including at one time St. Paul's in London.

The interior is most striking for the huge oaken beams that support the roof and the crude, square, stone baptismal font, which dates from the 12th century. The font in the High Ongar church is a 19th century one, but we could be sure that some of Ruth's distant ancestors were baptized in this one!

Having established that High Ongar and Mandeville were both churches and villages, we set out to find Navestock. Mandeville is a mile or so north of High Ongar; Navestock is only a few miles south. With Ruth's skillful navigation, we found the latter easily on a road that winds up into the hills off the main highway. The only buildings were Navestock Manor, a private residence off to one side that we did not see, and the Parish Church of St. Thomas the Apostle.

St. Thomas was the most unusual church of these three. Its features include an 11th century nave, an aisle on the south side almost as wide as the nave which was added in the 13th century, and a squat tower and soaring spire at the end of the aisle. As we entered, its ancient walls echoed with the shouts and squeals of boys running up and down the aisles. The harassed schoolmaster who was trying to control them probably brought them here to improve their minds, but they had turned it into a scavenger hunt!

The sexton, an oddly misshapen little man, at first thought we were responsible for these unruly adolescents. His appearance and demeanor prompted thought of Quasimodo! But after the schoolmaster corralled the last boy and herded them back to their bus, peace returned and the sexton proved to be friendly and helpful.

He proudly showed us the interior of the tower, which is constructed of huge oak timbers with immense braces that hold them in place. A sign on one of them told us more: "This fascinating structure was subjected to Carbon–14 analysis a few years ago. It gave an age of 770 years + or – 60 years. A highly probable date for this building would be around 1250, about the time the existing south aisle of the church was added. It may well of stood in isolation, off the SW angle of the church, before the building of the south aisle since this was not an uncommon position for belfries during the 13th century."

The strength of this ancient structure was sorely tested during the Battle of Britain in World War II. In September, 1940, a land mine parachuted from a German bomber landed in the churchyard. It blasted an enormous crater and seriously damaged the west and south walls of the church — but it didn't budge the spire! (With that wonderful British talent for turning adversity to advantage, the congregation turned the crater into a charming rose garden.)

By this time twilight had fallen, so we decided we would drive to Loughton to do our research in the library. The route looked fairly simple on the map. By now we should have learned! For the next hour we wandered down one twisting lane after another, in constant peril from rush–hour traffic leaving London and confounded by the peculiar British custom of not bothering to label some main roads, including the one to a good–sized town like Loughton. Finally, quite by accident, we found ourselves on the main street of a city. It was Loughton! But where was the library? Ruth got out and asked a man sitting in a parked car. In a typically British gesture, he started up his motor and led us to it. It had taken far longer that we planned to get here, but there was still time to do some work. Then we saw the building: all dark. The library was closed all day today....

That's when we got out our directory of local housing and found these digs. We recovered our spirits, which had sunken pretty low, at a French restaurant and got back here early. We'll be at the library first thing in the morning.

Wednesday, November 9, 10 PM

This morning we stopped only briefly at the Loughton Library. We got some valuable information on the histories of High Ongar, Norton Mandeville and Navestock but were told the genealogical records we sought were in the Essex Records Office in Chelmsford. So we hopped in our car and, with considerably less confusion that the night before, got back on the highway to Chelmsford. If the sun had been shining, we would have stopped again at the three little churches to get some better pictures, but since the overcast was just as low as usual, we drove on by.

It's worth noting that Chipping Ongar is the terminus of one of the London Underground lines — a 20th century incursion into a part of Essex that is still redolent of earlier centuries. If we or anyone else return to the ancestral seat of the Lymans, it would be easiest to take the Tube to Ongar and then walk the mile across open country to High Ongar. Norton Mandeville is a mile or so north of there, and Navestock would be a few miles walk in the other direction. "Chipping", incidentally, means "Market" and is a common prefix to place names in Britain. Remember Chipping Campden? "Cheap" comes from the same root: the Saxon ceapeian, "to barter".

After turning in the car, we went to the Essex Record Office and spent most of the day going through the extensive files. We confirmed much of the information we already had on the Lymans and learned some new facts. All these will be duly recorded in our Family Group Records.

Examining microfilms of documents written in 16th and 17th century script is exhausting. We went right through lunch, so by four o'clock we were tired and famished. We refueled on tea and scones, took the train back to London, picked up the bags we had left at Euston, and were settled at our London hotel by six PM.

Afterthought:

Just recently a new Lyman cousin recounted for me her trip to High Ongar one spring several years ago. When she and her Mother found the church in High Ongar they were greeted by the pastor, who said, "Ah yes, the return of the Lymans!" Surprised, they asked whether Lymans arrived at his door every spring. With a smile and a big sigh, he replied, "Oh yes — every spring!"

I believe the most useful thing any of us who have been there can do is encourage any Lyman who has not done so to take flight, not necessarily in spring-time, and make that symbolic return home. You will be amply rewarded.

The annual Gideon Lyman family reunion over the years has been held at the Homestead except when circumstances made a change of venue necessary as was the case this year. The family met 6/10's of a mile up Lyman Road at the home of Steve and Carol Palmer the afternoon of July 18th.

In, Down the Lyman Line, page five, the writer wonders how a family traveled by train with animals. When my father was a child, his father took a homestead in Nebraska. They had the livestock and equipment in one end of the box car. Everything else, including the family, in the other end. The meals were prepared and eaten in the train stations along the way.

I was also interested in the Lyman move West. The Lyman caravan that left Potsdam, NY in 1833 was known as the Lyman Exodus and when established in Sangamon County, Illinois, as the Lyman Colony. I have recently searched records in Potsdam, NY, Springfield, IL, and Minneapolis and have been writing a paper on the "exodus". Incidently, the good Rev. Billious Pond's first name may have been Billy Lou. He died at the age of 98.

Steve Palmer would like to share a little "note" in the family history that has always been a point of interest to the folks in the northeastern hills of Pennsylvania. Gideon Lyman (6) [Richard–1, John–2, John–3, Gideon–4, Gideon–5] purchased the land in what is now Lymanville from his brother–in–law, Samuel Spencer, under the Connecticut Charter. Unfortunately this northeast corner of the state was in dispute between Connecticut and Pennsylvania eventually being settled [1782] in the favor of the latter. So — Gideon had to repurchase his land from Henry Drinker of Montrose, PA; paying twice — getting less — sound familiar? This was certainly a financial blow to the family but Gideon and his sons surmounted this difficulty to eventually increase the family land holdings. This definitely was no land of immediate gratification but one of determined effort and patience to achieve ones goals.

Stephen Palmer, Springville, PA

[Gideon lived from 1758 to 1824. Dolly Spencer, his wife, from 1764/5 to 1844. They had 126 children and grandchildren at the time of their deaths.]

The Rev. Lyman Beecher was a relative of the Lymans. Thomas K. Beecher, brother of Henry Ward Beecher, was a minister and pastor of our largest church in Elmira in the 1800's. There is a statue, in the back next to the church, of him. Mark Twain lived across the street or should I say his wife's family. But Mark Twain and Rev. Beecher were good friends. There is a school named for Thomas K. Beecher here in Elmira, NY. Harriet Beecher Stowe was a sister. She wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin". There is one descendant of the Beechers that I know that resides in Florida.

Dulcie Hill, Elmira, NY

Margaret Lyman still has the following available. Order from her at 190 Powder Hill Rd., Middlefield, CT 06455.
Some pictures remain, a few Coleman books, quite a few T–shirts, but no flags. Also anyone wishing the letter #7 which contained copies of speeches, lists of persons (alphabetical and by zip code) you need only to ask. The "trees" while available have not been corrected. If anyone knows of corrections to that listing, and has not already sent them in, please do. Information from the reunion last August is also available in ASCII format if you send her 5 1/4" disks.

Queries

I wrote to inquire about any Lyman descendants who had a Scott connection. Lyman was used as a middle name for one of my Scotts. It is possible his family had a Lyman ancestor. If so, I have not been able to find the connection.

Eunice S. Barrow, San Antonio, TX

Does anyone have any information on Eunice Earll, who married Samuel Lyman, son of Gideon Lyman and Dolly Spencer in 1820 in Susquehanna Co., Pennsylvania. Absolutely all I know is that she was the daughter of Benjamin Earll.

I subscribe to the Navy Times, a weekly newspaper. Some months ago there appeared therein notice of a reunion of the U.S.S. Lyman. I wrote the coordinators saying that I have never heard of a ship so named and requesting more information. Harry & June Pahel, the coordinators, sent information on two ships from the Dictionary of American Naval Fighting Ships:

Lyman (DE–302) was named for Chan Lyman, born in the township of Grandriver, Cass County, Mo., 30 Dec. 1912 and enlisted in the Navy 23 Aug. 1928. He died in the attack of the Neosho on May 7 during the Battle of the Coral Sea. The Lyman commissioned 19 Feb. 1944 and decommissioned 5 Dec. 1945 was sold to the Puget Sound Navigation Co., Seattle Wash., 26 Dec. 1946. The Lyman received five battle stars for World War II service.

Lyman County (LST–903) named for a county in south–central South Dakota.

Does anyone know how Chan Lyman might relate to the descendants of Richard (1580–1640)?

Other twins exist in the line of Harriet Myers.

I doubt that Mr. Curtis was a Lyman but it is most interesting to discover there is a Lyman, Nebraska.

In fact there are several towns by the name of Lyman and a couple of counties. I plan on writing to them for information on whom they were named after, etc.

Laudable Lymans – NANCY LYMAN

Nancy Lyman (8) was born on a New England farm on 12 April 1804. "Among the rockribbed hills of Chester, Massachusetts, I was cradled," she wrote. She was the daughter of Crispus Lyman (7), one of the 11 children of Stephen Lyman (6) who was a founding settler of Chester and a descendant of Richard Lyman, who emigrated from England to America in 1631. [Elias – 5, Moses – 4, Moses – 3, John – 2, Richard – 1]

Nancy's mother was an invalid and could not care for her children. Nancy wrote, "I was destined to be away from home often for months together, among relatives, often tasting the bitterness of homesickness. Looking back from my present standpoint, I can see this early discipline had not a little to do in forming me a spirit of independence and self–reliance, which helped me onward in after life."

She was a determined student, studying by herself in such books as she could find and attending school when she could, but in her teens she discovered novels and dancing "and was beginning to look forward to scenes of gaiety and worldly pleasure." She felt she had to choose "Christ or the world." At 15 she chose Christ and "throughout my long pilgrimage since, I have rejoiced in the privilege of teaching the Bible truths in Sunday School, as well as to heathen children in a foreign land."

She had determined to become self–supporting, took a job in a millinery shop and had a chance to become a partner, but rejected a course that would have bound her to "a constant attention to the ever changing fashions." Instead, she struggled on with her studies at night and finally became a teacher in a school in western New York State.

There she met Henry Richard Hoisington, a student at Auburn Theological Seminary. He was ordained and they were married in 1831. They resolved to become missionaries and in 1833 were sent to Ceylon (now Sri Lanka). After a dangerous journey of almost four months they arrived in Batticotta (now Vaddukodai) in the Tamil–speaking, Hindu part of northern Ceylon.

Rev. Hoisington taught in the mission school, Batticotta Seminary, and became its principal. He was unusually advanced in his attitudes. He not only learned Tamil and translated books on Hindu philosophy and science into English, but he also included the Hindu classics along with Christianity and English in the curriculum. The school is now Jaffna College, still operating despite the civil war in Sri Lanka.

During her missionary years, Nancy Lyman Hoisington had six children, one of whom died of cholera and another from the rigors of a long stormy ocean voyage.

Finally, ill health forced Rev. Hoisington to return to the United State in 1850 and he became the pastor of the Congregational Church in Centerbrook (Saybrook), Connecticut, until he died in 1858.

Son Henry Richard Hoisington, Jr., (from whom I am descended) followed his father into the ministry. His widowed mother lived with him and his family until her death in 1878.

Elizabeth Hoisington Stewart, Rochester, NY

Elizabeth Hoisington Stewart was interested that in Bette Farr's article David Belden Lyman went to Hawaii as a missionary in 1832. Her ancestress, née Nancy Lyman, also was a missionary at that time; she and her husband were sent to Sri Lanka. This brief biography is based on the memoirs and other papers that Elizabeth compiled into a book for the family several years ago.

From the Editor:

I have been thrilled with the response to the first issue of this newsletter. After sending out 382 copies of Volume I, No. 1, at the time of printing of this second issue, there are 151 subscribers, and I have received several kind letters of encouragement, articles, queries, and other tid–bits. After planning an article on an ancester of mine, I now find that I do not have to try to fill space for this issue — it's wonderful! Prof. Hills will have to wait. As you can see there isn't even much room to "chat!"

In looking through the list of those attending the reunion I noticed that though the majority of subscribers attended, a good percentage did not. Even though you may have had material at the reunion not everyone who did attend may have had a chance to see it or get copies of it. Certainly the people who could not attend may find your material of interest. If you do not feel you are talented enough to write an article, I will be glad to work with you and your material. (I may be biting off more than I can chew!) And I really would like material on those early Lyman wives.

Keep those letters and articles coming. I love hearing from all of you.

In the spring of 1871, the Reverend Theodore B. Lyman was called to be rector of Trinity Episcopal Church in San Francisco. The Reverend had spent the previous nine years in charge of various American Episcopal churches in Rome. While living in Italy, a daughter, Roma, was born in 1863. The Reverend had become friends with William Rinehart, the sculptor, who enlisted young Roma as a model for one of his works which now stands in the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C.

The Reverend's oldest son, William W. Lyman studied at the Saxony School of Mines and learned French, Italian and German. At the age of twenty–one, William was sent to California by his father with the charge of locating property suitable for vineyards from which to produce sacramental wine. With the aid of a schoolmate who grew up in the Napa Valley, William found a six hundred acre ranch north of St. Helena. The property had a house built in 1849 and a grist mill on a nearby stream. The House still stands and is occupied by Amis Lyman, the Reverend's great grandson. The Bale Mill is now a state park open to the public.

The Reverend was later transferred to Raleigh where he became the Episcopal Bishop of North Carolina. William stayed on in St. Helena to work the ranch and vineyards. With the help of neighbor Charles Krug, the vineyard began producing wine under the label "El Molino" (The Gristmill). Around the turn of the century, the phlloxera blight destroyed the vineyards which were not replanted. Owing to his proficiency in foreign languages and the many Germans and Italians in the area, William went on to become president of the Bank of St. Helena and chairman of the Lodi school district.

William had two sons: William Jr. (Jack) and Theodure B. Lyman III. Both were graduated from Berkeley and Jack went on to study at Oxford and became a professor of Gaelic languages. Jack was a prolific writer and authored many journals of Lyman genealogy. Theodore III was a civil engineer who, at age 35, volunteered for army flight school during World War I. Tragically, he was killed when his training plane collided in midair with another plane just three days before his third child was born.

Theodore III's middle son, John R. Lyman, developed a love for sailing ships and the ocean while growing up in Berkeley. John became an oceanographer by vocation and a maritime historian by avocation, accumulating a library of over ten thousand books on sailing ships and maritime history. The bulk of the library is now housed at Fort Mason as part of the National Maritime Museum in San Francisco.

If you travel to San Francisco, be sure to visit the "John Lyman Reading Room" in Fort Mason and the Maritime Museum next to Ghiradelli Square. The Old Bale Mill and the Lyman Ranch are in the heart of California's wine country three miles north of St. Helena on the west side of Highway 29.

Rich says his 'great-uncle, William Whittingham (Jack) Lyman, Jr., was a prolific writer of the Lyman genealogy and I have created this very brief summary from his memoirs. While somewhat biased, his wrtings are fascinating and I reread them often. Uncle Jack passed away in 1983 at the grand age of 98. Although almost totally blind from glaucoma, he dictated his memoirs well until his 90's and was lucid until the day he died. The California Lymans are a diverse group which might be interesting to the rest of the family.'
